(By Urquhart Cawley, B. A., Organist of Christ Episcopal Church.)

The great Saengerfest of 1908 is over, but for a long while we shall rejoice in its memories. I have no means of judging the financial side of the meeting, but there is no doubt as to its success musically. Both the chorus and orchestra have covered themselves with glory, and it was only necessary to hear the applause and see the bouquets to estimate the hold gained by the soloists on the affections of their auditors.

I was unfortunately unable to be present at the children's concert on Saturday afternoon, but I hear that it was an interesting affair, and that the "Flag Song" in particular received quite an ovation. It appears that the orchestra also was at its best, and was highly appreciated. Needless to say, both Miss Solon and Miss Hickisch delighted their hearers, and the fine cornet playing of Mr. Thieck was a revelation to many.

On Saturday evening the final concert drew what appeared to be the best audience of the whole meeting, and in spite of the heat, which was intense, the magnificent program was thoroughly enjoyed. Most especially do I record my admiration for Herr Kelbe, whose management of the huge chorus, and dramatic interpretation—without a note of music—of the various items, was nothing less than masterly.

The performance opened with a spirited rendering by the orchestra of Wagner's "Meistersinger" overture. "Die Meistersinger" is Wagner's only contribution to comic opera, or rather—to avoid confusion—humorous music-drama, and is great all through. The overture, being of a martial character, was not spilt, as was the more delicate "Oberon" on the previous evening, by the noise of people taking their seats.

The chorus, under the magnetic spell of Herr Kelbe, then gave an exceedingly fine performance of the

THREATENS JUDGE IN OPEN COURT WITH VENGEANCE OF MAFIA

NEW YORK, July 27.—Furious because Judge Rosalsky sentenced him to ten years in Sing Sing for robbery, Cosimo Riccobone today threatened the jurist with the vengeance of the Mafia in open court.

"The Mafia will get you for this," shouted the Italian at the judge in his native tongue. Then turning to a gathering of Italians in the courtroom he cried:

"He gave me ten years, take care of him!"

By the time the threat had been translated to the court the Italians had disappeared.

TAFT BRINGS 'SPECS' AND WORKS HEAD OFF

CINCINNATI, July 27.—Candidate Taft put in a strenuous day with political conferences, committee meetings and general preparations for the notification ceremonies tomorrow. He appeared at his office at 8 o'clock and immediately the work was on. Vorys, who is the final authority on arrangements, was first given an audience and the plans for tomorrow were carefully gone over and approved. All trains are bringing the many members of the notification committee. Many decorations in the way of flags, streamers and bunting are already in place, giving the city a gala appearance.

Taft visited a photographer and an oculist, where he said he wanted some glasses to stay on over his ears. He went to Brother Charley's house to rest until the afternoon conference with the Ohio committeemen and candidates.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 27.—Lena Meion, five months old, drowned in a pail of water today. She fell in head first when her mother was away.

HISGEN CHOICE OF INDEPENDENCE LEAGUE FOR U. S. PRESIDENT

THOMAS L. HISGEN OF MASSACHUSETTS.

Mr. Hisgen first became a figure in politics when he entered a four-cornered race for the governorship of his state and finished second, outstripping his democratic opponent and planting a banner of the Independence party as the second of the great national parties in the old rock-ribbed state of Puritan republicanism. Mr. Hisgen is known throughout the nation as one of the independent oil refiners who has stubbornly fought the Rockefeller trust and has withstood its advances as well as its attacks and remained honestly in the open market.

DUTCH WARSHIPS TO MAKE DEMONSTRATION AT CARACAS

AMSTERDAM, July 27.—In retaliation for the summary expulsion of J. H. Derens, the Dutch minister to Venezuela, it is officially announced that all Dutch warships in American waters have been ordered to make a demonstration against Venezuela.

Unless Castro immediately apologizes, it is probable the Dutch will bombard Laguayra and Porto Cabello, the principal coast towns of Venezuela.

WILLEMSTADT, July 27.—The cruiser Gilderland arrived today, bearing Minister Derens and was ordered to proceed to Venezuela to protect the Dutch interests there. Derens will remain here awaiting orders.

Mobs Rule Willemstadt. WILLEMSTADT, July 27.—Anti-Venezuelan mobs have filled the streets for three days. Senator Lopez, the Venezuelan minister at Curacao, was attacked and sought refuge in the German consulate. The rupture between the Netherlands and Venezuela resulted from restrictions on Curacao's industry by Castro during the recent plague. The situation is beyond the control of the police.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 27.—Details of the attack by angered inhabitants of Willemstadt, Curacao, upon Senator Lopez, Venezuelan consul, were received at the state department today from United States Consul Cheney. He says Saturday morning a howling mob surrounded the residence of the consul demanding an apology. The mob threatened vengeance and the consul fired in the crowd with a revolver. None were hurt and the crowd subsequently dispersed, but yesterday morning the mob again assembled and attacked Lopez while on his way to his office. He took refuge with the German consul and a military guard was summoned for his protection. The populace was in a rage, and stones were freely thrown, one of which hit Lopez.

After this he was induced to leave for Venezuela, and sailed later in the day, accompanied by Senator Gramcho, also obnoxious, a Venezuelan newspaper correspondent who has been compelled by the angry populace to retract his writings against the government of Curacao.

Monroe Doctrine Only Check.

It is probable that the United States will allow Holland to go as far as she pleases in trying to force Castro to terms with the sole limitation that she shall not attempt to seize any Venezuelan territory. The Monroe doctrine cannot be invoked to save Castro from the promised "spanking."

Roosevelt, in a message to congress in December, 1901, used the following language:

"The Monroe Doctrine is a declaration that there must be no territory aggrandizement by a non-American power at the expense of an American power on American soil. It is no wise intended as hostile to any old nation of the world. The doctrine has nothing to do with commercial relations of any American power. We do not guarantee any state from punishment if it misconducts itself, provided the punishment does not take the form of acquisition of territory by a non-American power."

The Gilderland, which was sent to Porto Cabello to take away Derens is the only Dutch vessel at present in American waters.

May Consult the Powers.

It is believed the Dutch government will consult with the powers before taking active steps against Venezuela. It is unknown whether the Dutch will start a peaceful blockade or bombard Laguayra and Porto Cabello or seize the Venezuelan customs houses. The United States welcomes the action by the European power, inasmuch as the American complaint against Castro is entirely commercial, while the Dutch have graver grievances.

COX ESCAPES THE PROMISED PROBE

CINCINNATI, Ohio, July 27.—George B. Cox and the government of Cincinnati will escape investigation at the hands of the Ohio legislature. The circuit court today declared the Gaymon-Lexow committee named last session was an illegal body. While the case will be appealed to the supreme court, there is little hope for a reversal.

Western Delegates Wanted Declara-

CHICAGO, Ill., July 27.—Thomas L. Hisgen, Massachusetts, the leader of the Independence leaguers of the Bay state, will tomorrow be named for president by the First National Convention of the party. His running mate will be a southerner, but his identity is undecided as yet. The platform will be the most radical ever drafted by aspirants to political honors.

This was decided on in a series of conferences today. All the big men in the movement were consulted and while many names were mentioned, it was generally admitted that Hisgen's race for governor of Massachusetts in the last election, merited recognition. It is asserted he is the strongest candidate, now that Hearst is positively out of the running.

The real work of the convention began this afternoon when several delegations went into caucus for representation on various conventions' committees and selection of national committeemen.

The candidates for presidential nomination on the league ticket were the league ticket were: Howard of Alabama; Graves, of Atlanta, Ga.; Taylor, of Illinois; Hisgen, of Massachusetts; Neal, of Indiana, and Walsh of Iowa.

The national committee organization met this morning and completed the preliminary arrangements for the convention.

The league leaders pride themselves on having only the simon-pure article of uncanon and unbiased politics and politicians ever brought together, but there seems to be a

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST.

William Randolph Hearst is the acknowledged parent of the Independence party. It is through his efforts and through the medium of his papers that the organization has been perfected and should the Independence party develop into a national party William Randolph Hearst will be the man in years to come who will receive the credit for having founded this new movement, which is theoretically combined of the best in both the old-line parties and many new features.

Mr. Hearst could receive the nomination for president if he wished, but so far he has declined to consider this, preferring to have some man other than himself head the ticket.

A REAL ICE FAMINE CAN HARDLY BE AVERTED NOW

Only the strictest economy on the part of ice users can get us through the hot weather without a famine—E. H. Derr, Manager Peoples' Ice Company.

There is an actual ice shortage. The fight we are making is to make it go as far as possible. I dislike to think of the hardships that may result from the waste of use of ice by the public—C. L. Jenks, President Arctic Ice & Fuel Company.

That there exists a shortage of ice which threatens to result in suffering later in the season is a fact for which the managers of the local ice companies vouch. That it is a bona-fide warning to the people to be careful of their ice is evident from the fact that the managers joined today in the following statement:

Prices Not to Advance.

"There will be no advance in ice rates. We are genuinely concerned for the safety of the public, and want to ward off the danger of an ice shortage."

There will be a shortage. Ice will be wanting in September, and a late continuance of the extremely warm weather will find homes without it. Today Mr. Derr said:

"The decision of Mr. Frank Bigelow not to put up ice this year was a surprise to us, and left us short 7,000 tons when it was impossible to make up the deficiency. Add to this the equally unexpected failure of Mr. Kaiser to fill his 1,000 ton house, and we have a total shortage of 8,000 tons, with the breweries less liberally supplied than usual."

Some Suggestions.

The following suggestions are made for ice users:

Don't freeze your ice cream at home.

If you are using a home cold storage plant, abandon it for a refrigerator that will use less ice.

Don't use ice in water and tea—cool it in the refrigerator.

Don't order extra ice.

Continuing, Mr. Derr said:

"The demand for extra ice has been heavy, and Saengerfest week has been a heavy draft upon the supply. We have had order after orders for extra ice and Saturday we took out five extra loads. Now you can imagine how big a hole that would put in our supply if it was kept up. If the people will economize on what they have and the weather turns a little cooler I think that we can pull through. Of course during the Saengerfest we had to send out extra loads, but we will have to call a halt, from now on."

Owing to the late winter the ice harvest wasn't as good as it might have been, but the late day at which the hot weather started led dealers to believe there would be no shortage. In case it comes to a point of using up the entire supply, houses may be cut off and only meat markets, stores and places where it is absolutely necessary will be supplied, say the icemen.

BRYAN MAKES POINT IN IOWA SPEECH

DES MOINES, Ia., July 27.—Wm. J. Bryan was welcomed here by a big crowd. Jerry Sullivan, recent nominee for governor, introduced him. Bryan spoke briefly, in part as follows:

"Iowa has been wedded to the doctrine of electing senators by the direct vote of the people. Your governor has taken an active part in the promulgation of that idea and those who have worked with him on that subject must have been mortified when the proposition was turned down in the republican convention by a majority of more than seven to one, and they must have been delighted when it was turned up in the Denver convention by a unanimous vote."

MURDERESS DIES IN JAIL

BERLIN, July 27.—Mme. Vere St. Leger Gould, who is serving a life sentence for the murder of Emma Levin in the famous trunk mystery at Monte Carlo, died today of typhoid fever. The woman and her husband murdered the Levin woman for her jewels. She confessed her guilt.

EVEN PITTSBURG CANT STAND NAN PATTERSON

PITTSBURG, July 27.—Nan Patterson, who was freed by Jerome following unsuccessful attempts to convict her of the murder of Bookmaker Caesar Young, left Pittsburgh hurriedly today for parts unknown. She was escorted to the Pennsylvania train by Captain of Detectives Roach, where she was told that if she ever set foot on Pittsburgh soil again she would be sent to the work house as a vagrant.

Saturday the wife of a prominent Pittsburgher informed Roach that her husband was infatuated with a former chorus girl, who enticed him away from home. The woman says she is Nat Patterson but she was not fully identified.

HITCHCOCK MEETS BRYAN

CHICAGO, Ill., July 26.—William J. Bryan spent the great part of Sunday quietly in his rooms in the Auditorium Annex, where he received a number of visitors, chief among whom was Frank H. Hitchcock, chairman of the republican national committee, who called to pay his respects to the democratic leader.

Omaha gets the next Saengerfest; Otto Rohland of St. Paul, former vice president, is the new president of the Saengerbund of the Northwest, and Theodore Kelbe, the magnetic conductor, is to continue as the director for another two years, the delegates Sunday morning uniting in a big demonstration that showed there could be no one else at the head of the singer hosts next time but this man. Furthermore the convention took the following action:

Condemned in direct language the progress of the prohibition movement as opposed to personal liberty and the Declaration of Independence.

Declared that the act of Postmaster General Meyers requiring papers printed in languages other than English to furnish translations of their matter was grossly unjust, inasmuch as it placed the editor at the mercy of the small politician.

Joined the German-American National Bund.

Endorsed the new organization of the directors of the societies in the bund.

Coats went off in a jiffy in the business meeting at Germania hall. In spite of the heat business went forward rapidly, but on account of the amount brought up it was noon before an adjournment was taken. The chief debates were on the resolutions and on matters of policy.

New President Chosen.

Otto Rohland, of Concordia, St. Paul, was chosen unanimously as soon as it became evident that sentiment favored him greatly. Fred Walter, of Fidelity, Chicago, was also in the contest, but his name was withdrawn as soon as the ballots began to be counted. President Behrens and Karl Richter were nominated but withdrew, Behrens endorsing the

GANS AND NELSON SIGN FOR SEPT. 9

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., July 27.—Jimmy Coffroth today clinched the third meeting of Joe Gans and Battling Nelson, the battle to take place before his club on Sept. 9, admission day. The fighters are to get 50 per cent of the gate receipts, Nelson getting an additional 10 per cent for signing.

There is considerable interest in this fight, probably more than in either of the two former battles. Every fan who knows anything of the two men is anxious to see the mill and all are desirous of learning if Gans is really all in. It is certain that he will fit himself to the best this time and if beaten again it will be positively known that the Dane is his master.

Gans, though still disheartened because of his defeat, is still doing light work to rebuild himself and says that when he enters the ring this time he will dispose of Nelson in less than fifteen rounds.

"I thought Nelson a pipe when we clashed the last time, but I learned my mistake only too late. This time I will be fit and you can risk your life that I will be the winner."

Nelson is on his way to Chicago, where a banquet is to be tendered him. He will, however, start right back here to fit himself for the battle.

ST. PAUL OARSMEN TAKE FIRST IN RACE

WINNIPEG, Man., July 27.—In Saturday's regatta the St. Paul crew, stroked by Nelson, won from the Union 4's; time, 8:40. The St. Paul crew, stroked by Ordway, was fourth. Cochran, St. Paul, won the senior singles in the time of 10:04.

Arthur S. French and Harold Anderson, St. Paul, defeated W. H. McMillan and Harold Hastings in the junior doubles in the time of 9:14. Winnipeg won the senior eights from St. Paul in 8:03.

Before one of the best crowds during the series, Madison Senators yesterday defeated La Crosse, making it three straight. All the games were marked by brilliant playing on both sides and the winners well deserved their victories. The game yesterday was one of the hardest for La Crosse to lose of the series. After a beautiful pitchers' battle between Steele and Jones, a misplay by Jones himself resulted in the only run of the game, which occurred in the ninth inning.

The fans, including backers of the Pinks and the Senators, had fully prepared to witness an extra-inning session, but a slip by La Crosse in the ninth inning shot all hopes, as in the remaining half of the inning La Crosse was unable to locate Steele's curves and the grand stand emptied with nothing but a hard luck story on their tongues.

The battle was fast and furious between Steele and Jones, the odds favored neither one of the pitchers. In the seventh inning Steele showed his supremacy at the rubber by retiring the side with one man out and the second and third bases full. A chance for La Crosse to win the game was then at hand, but as usual, the stumbling block that has been with the team during the past series still held away and both Bond and Killian were retired without advancing the runners.

Inability to hit at critical times was the downfall of the La Crosse team, while the horse shoe, the emblem of luck, appeared to be with the Senators.

Up to the ninth inning, with an exception of once, the order was but three men to bat, Jones having the senators in his grasp and was given perfect support. The Madison players were retired without reaching the first sack.

Steele on the other hand established a similar record and up to the seventh inning with the exception of one man getting a pass and one being hit with the ball the result was the same.

The chance for La Crosse came in the seventh inning, but it was turned down. Bues was the first man to bat and drove out a pretty single, the first hit of the game. Safford followed with another neat single and Duchien sacrificed, but there was nothing then appeared, but he was only able to fly out to Cook. Becker then put in an appearance and the call of the crowd was a "hit." Becker failed to get a chance, as Steele pegged him in the back, and he trotted to first filling the bases. Joe Killian then came to bat and a similar cry arose for a hit, but Joe was only able to hit a high fly to Papa Letcher. From then on Steele held them safe and ended the game, allowing but two hits, one of them being a scratch.

Jones pitched a good game also, and under ordinary circumstances would have won his game, allowing but four hits. The disaster, though, came in the ninth inning. Smith was the first man to bat and found Jones for a safe hit. Steele sacrificed him to second and then the ballion went up. Howell hit safe to left field, Graves threw the ball to Jones and the latter threw it to Tracey to catch Howell off first, but the ball was low and in trying to stop it Tracey lost track of the ball and by that time Smith was hiking toward the plate. Tracey finally located the ball and pegged it to Killian and would have got the man but the throw was five feet from Killian and bounded to the grand stand. It was all over but the shouting. The next inning La Crosse were unable to locate safely and the game ended.

Saturday's Game.
The Saturday game between the Senators and the Colts went to the former team by the score of 4 to 0. Watson was on the firing line for La Crosse while Shaw officiated at the rubber for the Madisonians. It was a fast and furious contest but Shaw had the better of the argument and allowed but five hits and struck out twelve men, one of the largest number of strikeouts credited to a pitcher in the league. He had the goods with him and the best La Crosse hitters fell victims.

It looked bad for La Crosse in the opening inning. Leise was the first man up and drove out a three bagger but Letcher the next batter hit a fly to Duchien who made a pretty throw and caught Leise at the plate. Whitmore was next up and fanned. After that Watson held them to his own way until the terrible seventh inning. The fateful seventh was disastrous to Watson and also La Crosse. A total of five hits four of which were doubles resulted in four scores winning the game. Armstrong was the first man to bat and landed for a double, Cook singled and Smith the last man was retired on a fly to Safford. Shaw then started out to win his own game and hit a beautiful two bagger, scoring both Armstrong and Cook. Watson then fanned Leise but Letcher and Whitmore who followed him each hit doubles bringing in two more scores. Howell was the next man but Watson fanned him retiring the side. La Crosse failed to reach the first sack in the remaining innings and Madison fared little better but the game was won and they retired for a rest.

The La Crosse players were simply not in it at any time in the game. If a player did reach the initial sack he generally died there and the followers would fan the air. Bues who has been hitting the ball hard and often lately fell victim to Shaw's curves three times, while Becker followed his example. In fact Safford and Tracey were the only La Crosse players who did not fan at one time or another during the game. In the fifth inning it looked as though La Crosse might score and if this catastrophe would have happened it might have won the game. After Watson flew out Graves hit a two bagger and Tracey followed with a single. Bues then struck out for the third time. Safford was given a walk and all that Duchien was able to do was to hit a little pop-up to Cook.

DOPE BOX
The Pretzels arrived this morning and will join in a series with the battered Colts this afternoon.

After receiving three shut outs in the hands of the Senators the name "Whites" would be more appropriate than the "Pinks."

Sunday's game was a hard one to lose, after a pretty pitchers' battle. Tracey was the only Colt to appear at home in batting in Saturday's game, getting two swats in three times up.

Watson made his debut before the fans Saturday and was given a warm welcome but failed to come up with a victory. He appears as though he would later.

Shaw in his stunts in Saturday's game was more than remarkable and deserves considerable credit for the manner in which he handled the Colts.

Safford and Becker became conspicuous Saturday by their sensational and spectacular catching of flies after great runs.

great style. Yesterday he accepted twelve chances without an error and a number of them were of the difficult kind.

Steele pulled out of a hard hole in the seventh inning by good work.

The playing of the Senators in the last series has been about the fastest seen on the local diamond this year.

OSHKOSH, Wis., July 27.—Oshkosh fatted their batting averages at the expense of the Wausau pitcher yesterday, knocking Bartos out of the box and hitting Fox, who replaced him, hard. The Wausau team gave a disgraceful exhibition of rowdy baseball and Umpire Cavanaugh became disgusted at the tactics of the Wausau team in the second inning and left the grounds being replaced by O'Rourke, who umpired the last series at Fond du Lac. S.S.S. THE CURE FOR SCROFULA

Swollen glands about the neck, weak eyes, pale, waxy complexions, running sores and ulcers, skin diseases, and general poor health, are the usual ways in which Scrofula is manifested. The disease being deeply entrenched in the blood often attacks the bones, resulting in White Swelling, or hip disease, and the scrofulous and tubercular matter so thoroughly destroys the healthful properties of the blood that Scrofula sometimes terminates in consumption, an incurable disease. The entire circulation being contaminated, the only way to cure the trouble is to thoroughly purify the blood and restore the circulation to a strong, healthy state. S. S. S. is the very best treatment for Scrofula; it renovates the entire blood supply and drives out the scrofulous and tubercular deposits. S. S. S. is the greatest of all blood purifiers, and it not only goes right down to the very bottom of the trouble and removes the cause, but it supplies the weak, diseased blood with the healthful properties it is in need of, and in this way builds up weak, frail, scrofulous persons and makes them strong and healthy. S. S. S. is a gentle, safe, vegetable preparation and is suited for persons of any age. Book on the blood containing information about Scrofula and any medical advice free.

RELIABILITY

No matter if you have but a small sum to put into a motor car it is wasted if you buy a trashy, cheap vehicle which has nothing to recommend it but the price.

Better not take too much for granted when buying a motor car—get a thorough demonstration, impose hard conditions, make your demonstrator take you over rough hard roads and hills, mud—if he offers excuses make up your mind that he has a car with weak spots which he is afraid will develop under a strain. We want to prove to you that reliability of the cars we sell and you cannot impose a test too severe. All our cars are acknowledged leaders in their respective classes, but we do not want you to take our word for it. We will prove to any intending purchaser that the extra value in our cars is in their ability to do more and better work than the cheap cars sold on a bargain counter basis. Do you wish to be convinced. All we ask is the opportunity. Make an appointment for a demonstration NOW.

SAENGERFEST A SUCCESS.

The saengerfest is over. Its conclusion means much needed rest for those who have striven so ardently for its success, but there will be none to say it wasn't worth what it cost.

From the artistic and social standpoint it was more than a success, it was a triumph. What it was finally cannot be definitely said, but his much that should be gratifying to La Crosse citizens is true—the financial outcome was better than that attained in the great city of St. Paul two years ago.

In no matter on which side of the ledgers the balance stands, the saen-gerfest has been worth far more than it cost. This city was universally pleasing to the delegates, who are going out into seven states to tell the beauties of La Crosse. We are advertised by this meeting as we never have been advertised by any other single agency and with between $50,000 and $100,000 left here by the visitors, there should not be a flicker of worry anywhere about things material.

CONFUSION WORSE CONFOUNDED

Politicians often permit expedience to be their guide where frank utterance would do better, and this year they are confronted by an unusual problem. In national politics, what are the democrats going to do with President Roosevelt?

Permanent Chairman Clayton, at Denver, probably made the mistake of his life when he attacked Theodore Roosevelt, and it was noticeable that the portion of his remarks in which he castigated the chief executive were not received with unanimous warmth, even in a democratic convention. One cannot consistently condemn Roosevelt and praise Bryan, and the fact that Mr. Bryan has himself frequently spoken in commendation of the president's performances should have deterred the chairman from his indefensible attitude.

In Wisconsin this question has arisen, and with a frankness characteristic of Badger politicians, leaders have not hesitated to give at least partial credit to opponents. In his speech at Milwaukee Chairman Cleary said to the democratic convention:

"Political independence is now considered a greater civic virtue than blind obedience to party leaders.

"I have been greatly encouraged by the patriotic, long continued and sincere efforts of my republican fellow citizens of this state. . . .

"In 1906 the voters of the Third congressional district of Wisconsin taught us a valuable lesson in patriotism.

"The great measure of success in this state attained in the way of progressive legislation could never have been accomplished without the aid of about 50,000 votes usually cast for the democratic ticket.

"I read with pride and pleasure the report of the Wisconsin minority committee on platform at the Chicago republican convention.

"Voters of Wisconsin have often been told in the past ten years not to vote their party ticket if the platform is unsound, or the candidate unworthy. If those who proclaimed and believed in that doctrine in the past are consistent, they must now vote for Bryan and Kern and the Denver platform."

In that same convention Atty. J.
Ham Lewis, he of the pink whiskers and seductive wardrobe, referred to the La Follette planks submitted to and rejected by the republican convention, and finally adopted by the democrats, defending Congressman
Cooper. He referred to Senator La Follette as "that distinguished democrat of Wisconsin who so far mis-understands his own worth as to allow himself to rest under the slander of being called a republican."

Cleary, it will be noted, gave Senator La Follette credit for the accomplishment of good things, but could not refrain from emphasizing the fact that Wisconsin democrats helped to elect La Follette. Lewis went further, claiming La Follette for the democratic party.

But what will the effect of this frankness be? Clearly it will help Bryan, especially with six of the planks offered by La Follette to the republican convention, and there reflected, incorporated in the Denver platform. But will not the Wisconsin democrats, by their admissions, lose for their state ticket as much as they gain for the national ticket?

It would seem so. Governor Davidson, the accepted candidate of his party for another term, was a lieutenant of La Follette, a faithful champion of the La Follette policies, and it cannot justly be said that he has deviated largely from the progressive line of march. If, as Cleary admits, these policies are correct, is not the confession an argument for the re-election of Governor Davidson over a democrat? In leading La Follette republicans to the support of Bryan does not Mr. Cleary incite democrats to the support of Governor Davidson?

It is hard to escape the conclusion that just that effect will be attained, but the fact remains that Mr. Cleary was honest and consistent. How can La Follette men consistently decline to support Bryan upon La Follette's platform? How can Bryan democrats consistently refuse to support the La Follette propaganda in this state?

It all comes back to Lincoln Stef-fen's plea for a new party alignment.
With each party assuming, now a progressive, now a reactionary attitude according to the drift of public sentiment, neither the radical nor the conservative has a party upon which he can depend. Were there an honest party alignment, with the radicals on one side and the conservatives on the other, the voter might feel assured that his vote would be counted for the policies in which he believed. Nothing is more absurd than that Cannon should be arrayed against Parker and Roosevelt and La Follette against Bryan. The situation arose through the rather successful efforts of the corporations to hoist their tools into control of both parties, but in the glare of present day enlightenment the condition seems too absurd to long endure.

Today the party of expedient cannot command the confidence of the awakened public, and to a large extent both the great parties are committed to a dual slavery, a faction of each recognizing capital and another faction of each recognizing expedience as their taskmasters. So far as the voter parties are concerned Roosevelt, La Follette and Bryan are insurgents. Which insurrectionist will be reinforced until rebellion is followed by revolution?

The untrifled pair, "Bill" Bryan and "Bill" Taft, now must submit to an amendment making it a trio
by the addition of "Bill" Doerflinger.

The Free Press, "Uncle Ike's" paper, complains that in Wisconsin there are "self-seeking" politicians.
You know it, "Uncle Ike."

Having taken Amsterdam, the Dutch are in a mind to take Venezuela. May they take her home and open the dykes!

Now, if only that auditorium were permanent, how many more great conventions we might entertain.

Well, they've gone, but we still have Kreutz's Little Cholan Band.

Regarding the saengerfest picnic, wasn't it a picnic!

TAFT'S PRIVATE SECRETARY.

(Copyright by Waldon Faxett.)

Fred W. Carpenter is William H.
Taft's trusted private secretary and right hand confidential man. He will undoubtedly succeed William Loeb, Jr., as secretary to the president if Mr. Taft enters the White house next March. The position of secretary to the president is of the greatest importance, since the secretary is the official mouthpiece of the head of the nation, as well as the official buffer between the president and the people. Mr. Carpenter has long been with Mr. Taft and is well qualified for the job which is in sight for him.

RAILROAD PROSPERITY.

That there should be a strong difference of opinion among our railway captains on the question of raising rates at this time is not astonishing in view of several important considerations. Not the least of these is the political agitation in favor of a more scientific means of determining the reasonableness of transportation charges. But it is a curious chance that on the day of conference the advance figures of the interstate commerce commission came to hand with an eloquent argument against the meditated rise.

Revenues on the 229,951 miles of American railroad in the statistical year show an increase for each passenger a mile from 2.003 cents to 2.014 cents. Average of freight rates also has gone up over the preceding year's 0.748 cent a ton mile to 0.759 cent. Net earnings a mile went up from $3.548 to $3.696. The total railroad surplus is $141,000,000 as against $112,000,000 in the preceding year.

Increase of freight rates by the corporations acting in concert, in the light of this showing, would be difficult to justify—not to mention the other reasons which the wiser managers are bringing to bear against the step now under discussion.—New York Press.

LOOKS LIKE COMMON SENSE

(Washington Post.)

It is a hopeful sign for our national politics when the two dominant political parties obey the public voice. The secret campaign contribution has been a smear upon our national conscience and the secret agent of evil influences in our national elections. It has been a shame to the republicanism of our government, a mock upon the democracy of our political ideals. It has fostered corruption, strangled independence, tainted action in the councils of our great parties. Public opinion has at last demanded its abolition, and both those parties have willingly obeyed. That is the hopeful sign—that those whose power allowed them, and whose self interest might have prompted them, to accept what money and make what promises in secret they pleased have even indorsed the public demand. It proves that parties know themselves as no longer superior to the people; they are only the agents through which the people express their will.

QUIPS AND CRANKS AND WANTON WILES

The Olmipad "Foreigners"

The hammer throw had been announced, the bugles had been blown;

The heavy hammers flew and bounced, by mighty giants thrown.

"Who wins it?" cried the eager throng, "Who captures this event?"

And the Irish entries came along, retiring on their tent.

"A foreigner has beaten us,"
They answered with a groan;
"A foreigner—United States—
A fellow named Malone."

A dozen men were crouched to start,
and the starter fired the gun;
And as a bow projects a dart, the men were off to run.

"Who wins it?" cried the eager crowd,
"Who captures this event?"

And the German sprinters, sad and bowed, retired upon their tent.

"A foreigner has conquered us,"
They said, and winced a bit;
"A foreigner—United States—
His name is Otto Schmidt."

The hurdle race was duly called, and the starter fired the shot;
And some there were overhauled, and some there were not.

"Who wins it?" cries the multitude,
"Who wins this last event?"

And the Frenchmen, beaten and subdued, retired upon their tent.

"A foreigner outthrudded us,"
They said with little heart;
"A foreigner—United States—
A man named Bonaparte."

The running jump was on the card,
and men went high aloft;
And some men hit the island nard,
and others hit it soft.

"Who wins it?" cried the eager mass, "who captures this event?"

ed, retiring upon their tent.

Unprecedented.

Pierre Cartier, a Parisian jeweler, told this story the other night in Washington, to show how easy it is to entrap experts—either of jewelry or law: "A friend of mine at a recent dinner in Paris sat next to an eminent lawyer, to whom he said: 'I would like your opinion in a knotty point of law. My uncle has a peacock, and last fall it got into a neighbor's garden and laid an egg and my uncle claimed it too. What is the law on the question?'"

"It is an easy question to settle,"
said the lawyer, with a patronizing smile. "Admitting that the egg was laid on the neighbor's ground, the neighbor nevertheless has no claim to it unless he can prove that the owner of the bird took no steps to prevent it from straying. In a precedent case—"

"Excuse me," said the other man,
"but this case has no precedent."
"Well," said the lawyer, "you know more law, than I, do you? I remember distinctly a precedent case where —'No, you don't," said the other.
"You never heard before of a peacock laying an egg."—Washington Star.

A Duke as Q. C.

A lady was late for dinner at the palace but hoped to escape observation, as she was placed behind an epergne which she thought would conceal her from the view of the queen. Her majesty perceived her, however, and said, "I suppose some accident occurred on the road?"

The lady replied, "Yes, madame,
The carriage."

Thereupon the Duke of Cambridge —father of the late duke—not letting the question drop, asked what the accident had been.

The guest floundered, and said,
"One of the horses fell."

This did not satisfy the duke, who said, "Where was that?"

The lady replied, "In Holles street."

The Duke said, "And what did you do?"

"I went into a shop."

"What shop?" he asked.

"A chemist's shop," he asked the guest.

"But there is no chemist's shop in Holles street," replied the Duke.

At this point, the Queen, who was much entertained, took pity on the lady, and said to her uncle, "You should not ask ladies questions. It confuses them."—Sir H. Wolff's Rambling Recollections.

Progress.

"Yes," said Mrs. Malaprop, "my boy is doing first-rate at school. I sent him to one of them alimentary schools, and his teacher says he's doing fine. He's a first class sculler, they tell me, and is head of his class in gastronomy, knows his letters by sight, and can spell like one of these deformed spellers down to Washington."

"What is he going to be when he grows up?"

"He wants to be an undertaker, and I've declined to humor him, and I've told the confessor to pay special attention to the dead languages," said the proud mother.—Harper's Weekly.

A police sergeant was boasting of the honesty that prevailed in his division. "Why," he said, "you might hang your gold watch on a lamp post in the evening and find it still there in the morning." "You don't mean to say nobody would take the watch?" exclaimed the listener.

"No; I mean to say, nobody would take the lamp post," said the sergeant.

THE IRON LORD

A Hitherto Unpublished Story of Immense Power.

By
S. R. CROCKETT.

(Copyrighted.)

"When she glimpses that, if her eyes don't shine like any two Skerries, I'm a Dutchman!" said Billy Bryan. "Yes, Hans Van Bryanhuysen shall be my name if the little lass doesn't go fair wild with delight!
Let's call her down now. No, hold on, there's some more truck. Candles for the wing lights! There, drop them in, old Dick! And now, young man, get out her gearing for the holding of the music—I bought a lot.
For that I had to trust to the young man in the shop. He swore it was all right. And I warned him that by the saints it had better be or I should come back and take the hide off him, stripe by stripe. But he was a very confident young fellow, and said he would take his chances.

"Now, let's call her down. Honey, ahoy up there, the Skerry calls!"

"Stand clear, lads, she's comin' down!"

CHAPTER XVIII.

The Battle Engages.

It would have rewarded a giver more exigent than Billy, joint foster-father and lighthouseman, to have seen the face which Vida turned up on him. She stood a while in the doorway of the little parlour, stunned at first, then orienting her ideas out of a kind of vague inability to think what had come to her, but never quite taking her eyes off the beautiful little "cottage" piano which was now her own.

Slowly she understood. Dick could not have bought it. She knew the extent of Dick's resources. Mr. Morris—well, he date not. It must be Billy. It was Billy, her foolish old Billy. She saw the guilty complaisant, happy look on his face. The very width of his Irish grin gave him away.

"Oh! Billy," she said. And suddenly, with hands still at her side and standing there in the doorway, she began to cry. The tears ran down her cheeks as Billy Bryan rose at once to go to her. Was anything amiss? Was what he had thought of for years on his lonely lighthouse, dreamed of goggle-eyed under the weighty glare of the electric, pondered upon by the hour in his bunk when the waves made the Skerry tower rock like a tall tree in the wind—was it all to go wrong? If so, he would reckon with that young man in the music-shop who helped him so cheerfully to choose it.

"What is it, thin, darlin'?" he stammered, his ruddy face a little pale. "Is anything wrong with that there music-box? If so, I can get it changed. There were other sorts;
one that ye just put in the sheets with the music on them all ready pricked out and turn a handle! But my young spalpeen, with his ears tacked to his collar top, laughed and said that he guessed you wouldn't want that kind. It came cheaper, too, for all the convenience. But if he has worked off a dead bird on Billy Bryan, Billy will pack this old case straight back to the shop—yes, that young man had better be on the high road for Australia when Billy gets there himself!"

"Oh, no!" cried Vida. "It is lovely;
it is too—too good! But—but—you are too thoughtful for me—too kind.
I never do anything."

"Not a bit, not a bit, honey; sit ye down on the corkscrew seat with the button on the top and just make the machinery warble once in a way.
That'll pay for all!"

By this time Vida had come forward, holding her breath, lest with the smallest noise on her part the whole would vanish away like a dream. "I know it isn't one," she said, softly, as if to herself, "but it is just like a dream. And it's a Broadway!
Real Broadway!"

"Yuss," said the now relieved Billy, "no narrow wood for me. I got it as broad as I could afford in the stand up kind. The 'lying down' sort would have stuck out at the front door, and part way down to Kirktown! Besides, there would have been no place for visitors, except perhaps underneath. Well, now, just think o' old Dick there and that young giant out of a travelling menagerie playing house under Billy's piano! That would make a cat laugh, let alone a poor old high-man that never sees but the scarts and sea-fowl to laugh at! This is a good time, Billy, my boy. Ye never saw a better."

And Vida, happily turning over the music, sat down and softly from beneath her fingers came the first note of Greig's "Midsummer Night on the Nord Fjord." The men and entranced. She played with the instinct of melody, her head thrown back and her body swaying slightly;
so well, indeed

WINTERS WINS AT ST. PAUL TOURNEY

NORTH SIDE CRACK SHOT GETS 97 OUT OF 100

NEAR PROFESSIONAL SCORE

La Crosse Man Expected to Carry Off
First Prize in Local Open Match—Scores Yesterday

J. V. Winter, state amateur champion trap shooter, won another victory at St. Paul when he made the high score at the open tournament held under the auspices of the St. Paul Rod and Gun club. Winter's score was 97 out of a hundred birds. This was one bird less than the best professional score which was made by Will Heer, one of the best professionals in the country. Winter, who represented the "Q" Gun club, is expected to take the first prize in the amateur class in the open tournament which the local club will hold here August 6.

The scores made yesterday at the "Q" Gun club were not as satisfactory as usual and there was a rather small crowd out compared to the number that usually turns out for the Sunday shoot. The scores:

Culp	122	25
O. Fladlin	121	25
G. Fladlin	120	25
S. Welch	115	25
Fulks	7	38
W. Roth	28	37
Taylor	19	25
Gus Rose	18	25
Ed Boyle	15	25

GIVES WIFE DRINK, THEN DROPS DEAD

Mr. Carl Farrar, 709 Mill street, dropped dead Friday night as a result of an attack of rheumatism of the heart. Dr. George Leuck was immediately called but the man was dead when he arrived.

Mrs. Farrar had not been well for some time and Friday night the baby became cross and irritable. She aroused Mr. Farrar and asked him to bring a glass of water for the child which he did. Upon handing the water to his wife he complained of severe pains in his chest and immediately after fell dead.

Mr. Farrar was a well known Syrian of the North Side and his death was entirely unlooked for as he seemed to be in the best of health and spirits a few days before.

NORTH SIDE BRIEFS.

The condition of Mrs. Peter Fishback, who was operated on at the St. Francis hospital, is much improved this morning.

Ray Fitzsimmons returned from a week's visit with friends at Minneapolis.

Miss May Down of Winona spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Down.

Mrs. Thomas Cawley of Brainerd, is the guest of friends and relatives on the north side.

Miss Mary Lynch returned to her home in Austin after visiting at the home of John Dundon, Caledonia street.

Mrs. Joseph Breuer and son have returned from a visit with Mrs. Breuer's parents at Hokah.

Edward Welmar has returned from a visit with friends at Minneapolis and Ladysmith.

Mrs. F. L. Taylor is visiting relatives at Aurora, Ill., for a week.

Edward Laughlin and wife are visiting at Peoria for a couple of weeks.

Raymond Dwyer of Mill street is visiting friends at Fountain City for a few days.

Mr. John Sager of Prospect street spent Sunday with friends at Briar Prairie.

Mrs. G. Miller of Loomis street is spending a week visiting her parents at Babcock.

Miss Edith Cuts of Chicago is a guest at the home of W. C. Coster of Loomis street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. U. Shay of Prospect street are visiting their grandmother, Mrs. C. Vogel of Nelson, Wis., who is very low.

Miss Hazel Emery of Caledonia is the guest of her brother, L. W. Emery, for a few days.

F. C. Halbert is visiting friends and relatives at Merrill, Wis., this week.

Harry Richmond returned from a week's visit with friends at Davenport.

Misses Cleo and Bel Downs, 226 Mill street, are visiting at Emmetsburg.

"Sorry, sir," telephoned the butcher, "but we are out of sirloin. Why don't your wife order you a round?" "What's that?" exploded Harker, at the other end of the line. "I say, why don't your wife order you a round?" "Why don't my wife order me around? Man that is all she does from morning until night! If you were nearer, I'd—" but the startled butcher had hung up the receiver.

NEW TRACKS ON THE NORTH SIDE

STREET CAR COMPANY MAKES BIG IMPROVEMENT

OLD TRACKS ARE TOO LIGHT

New Cars Are Heavy and Improvement Is Necessary to Facilitate the Service

The La Crosse City Railway company is laying new tracks from Mill street to Caledonia street. The work which will take over a week, will keep a force of over 50 men busy. The cars are compelled to run over one track, greatly delaying the traffic and making the schedule much slower. The reason for the improvement which will cost a large sum is that the tracks are too light for the heavy cars and the ties are becoming rotten, so the company has decided to lay an entire new track. The left track will be laid first and the work will be started on the right track so as to allow traffic to proceed.

The company has been doing considerable work lately and the line is well kept up, giving a greatly improved service compared to the service a couple of years ago.

ADDITIONAL WORK AT "Q" SHOPS

Five additional carmen were put on at the Burlington shops last week and as soon as competent men can be secured a large number will be put to work. The reason for the increase is that the cars will have to be in shape for the fall business and as the work requires considerable time the officials have started an increased force to get things in shape. The work in the shops is getting along nicely under the new increased hours. Three engines were overhauled and put back in service. The engines were 638, 2,029 and 1,919.

JOINT MEETING OF FORESTERS

This evening at the Woodmen hall, corner of St. James and Rose street, there will be a joint meeting of all of the L. O. of F. lodges of the city. J. C. Proctor and Mrs. C. C. Looney, delegates to the supreme court, will be present and will explain the new rates. Refreshments will be served and a social time enjoyed after the business meeting.

NO RACE SUICIDE IN THE PHILIPPINES

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 27.—However much, or little, William Jennings Bryan may be worrying President Roosevelt and Judge Taft, there is cause for rejoicing in Oyster Bay and Cincinnati. This is due to the annual report of Governor Wm. F. Pack, of Benguet province, Philippine Islands.

Benguet province is the land of the Igorrote. These native tribesmen were recorded as uncivilized until seven years ago—when the Roosevelt administration came in. The report shows that since that time there has been less race suicide among the Igorrotes than among any other people on the face of the earth. Gov. Pack says that during these seven years, the Igorrote population has increased from 12,000 to 20,000. He admits that some inhabitants have come across the borders from other provinces, but he proves conclusively that the birth rate has been steadily increasing. "This is due to additional prosperity and a better mode of living which brings about an effect that the women do not have to work as hard as formerly," explains the governor.

THE GREAT DOCKS AT MARE ISLAND

WASHINGTON, July 27.—The $1,400,000 dry dock for the Mare Island Navy Yard, now in course of construction at Vallejo, Cal., will be completed in January.

Francis B. Smith, constructing engineer for the contractors, was in Washington this week conferring with officials of the navy department. The new dock will be of concrete throughout, and Smith talks interestingly of the difficulties which the contractors have encountered. "In the foundation of the dock," he said, "we used 12,260 piles of Oregon fir, driven 40 feet under water into from 20 to 40 feet of earth. Upon that foundation we built a concrete dock, but only after repeated failures."

"PEEPER" MAKES ESCAPE

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., July 27.—A cot of tar and feathers and a ride out of town on a rail is the punishment which has been promised a "Jack the Peeper," who has just made his appearance at Scotland, much to the annoyance of the residents. On several occasions he has been detected late at night peeping into windows, but thus far has escaped capture. But Wade discovered the man in the act of peeping into one of the windows of his home, and promptly gave chase, but the "peeper" proved to be something of a foot racer and could not be overtaken, making good his escape. The authorities and citizens in general now are maintaining a close watch for the culprit in the hope of capturing him.

U. S. EXCELS THE WORLD IN THE OLYMPIC GAMES

OMAHA GETS THE 1910 SAENGERFEST

candidacy of Rohland. Peter Laux of Omaha was chosen vice president unanimously, and in the following offices the same men retained their positions, as follows: Secretary—George H. J. Kieck. Treasurer—E. O. Kuey. Librarian—John Wunder. Director—Theodore Kelbe. When the time came to elect a director the delegates called loudly for Kelbe, who was sitting on the stage. All other candidacies urged earlier in the week had fallen before this one desire. The demonstration at Friday evening's concert showed that there would be but one nominee for the office of director, and his personal wishes would have nothing to do with it. All objections of his own had been overcome. Director Kelbe responded in a few words in which he thanked the singers for the honor and declared that he would do his duty to the best of his ability.

Omaha Is Chosen. Omaha was chosen unanimously the city for the Saengerfest of 1910, after telegrams were presented from Mayor Dahlmann of Omaha, King Aksenben the Second, and the Business Men's Commercial club. Rock Island was urged by John Berwald of Davenport, who thanked the singers for considering Davenport and said Rock Island would be able to take the festival. Valentine J. Peter of Rock Island declined for his delegation and then nominated Omaha. Peter Laux of Omaha thereupon extended the singers a hearty invitation to hold their next festival there. The Knights of Aksenben are an important organization of Omaha business men.

Organization of Directors. The directors of the different organizations in the band reported the organization of a society of their own with the following officers:

President—Claude Madden. Secretary—Theodore Winckler. Treasurer—O. W. Richter.

La Crosse societies were represented at the directors' meeting by Robert Isler. The directors assert that they can work together better in a society and made the following recommendations which were approved: That the new organization be recognized as a part of the Saengerbund of the Northwest.

That a committee of four directors with the president of the band as chairman choose what songs are to be sung at the concerts, after conferring with all other directors.

Pleads for More Power. In this connection Theodore Rudolph Reese of Davenport made an earnest plea to the band to take the opinions of the directors of music more into consideration. He asserted that they should have a voice in the style of building to be erected where an auditorium is to be built. He criticized the present manner of seating the grand chorus, which makes it almost impossible for the director to be seen by everybody.

Routine Reports Favorable. Reports of the officers of the band were favorable. Secretary Kieck reported $930.69 on hand. It was voted to print the secretary's report hereafter within two months after the saengerfest is held.

Another action of interest was a resolution declaring for more German music in the program of the saengerfests. It being asserted that many German composers have been neglected in favor of Italian and French writers inferior to them. The Idea is to bring out all that is best of German music.

Money Goes to Poor. One of the last actions before the adjournment of the meeting was the donation of $100 to the poor of La Crosse, to be turned over to them by the local festival committee.

The delegates adjourned with loud cheers for the La Crosse men who have worked so hard for the success of the festival. On account of the late hour many of the delegates missed a meal, the parade starting promptly at 1 o'clock.

Omaha a Good Convention City. Facilities in Omaha for the entertainment of the singers are of the best. There is a big auditorium there and hotel accommodations are unexcelled. The argument that Omaha is far from the cities in the eastern part of the Saengerbund's territory was met very aptly by a member of the Omaha delegation, who said: "You must remember that it is just as far from Omaha to St. Paul, Milwaukee and Chicago as it is from your cities to Omaha."

Rohland Deservedly Popular. The election of Otto Rohland of St. Paul is in reward for good work done. It was an efficient vice president, and his heart is with the band. Three generations of his family have supported German traditions enthusiastically on American soil. His son is a member of the Concordia of St. Paul which his father founded.

KOHLISAAT PALMER WEDDING IS SIMPLE

CHICAGO, July 27.—The wedding of Potter Palmer, Jr., to Pauline Kohlisaat took place at high noon today and was very simple. Katherine Kohlisaat was bridesmaid, and Honore Palmer groomsmen. The wedding was at the home of the bride's father, H. H. Kohlisaat, and the ceremony was performed by Rev. A. W. Griffin, pastor of St. Peter's Episcopal church. Mrs. Potter Palmer came from London to attend. The gifts were many and costly. The couple will spend their honeymoon in Europe.

UNFAVORABLY AFFECTS JAPAN

(San Francisco Chronicle.) Critics of the business situation say that the wave of depression which began on the Atlantic coast has struck Japan, and that business is very dull in consequence in that country. If the Japanese who were recently threatening to submerge the United States get a grip on the fact that the impaired ability of this country to buy their products spells commercial disaster to them they will probably conclude that we had better be allowed to remain on earth if only for the purpose of figuring as their very good customers.

Man's Greatest Pleasures.

What are man's greatest pleasures? While the great thinkers of thought have been publicly trying to answer this all-important question, and as usual have only involved a mere intellectual controversy, we have been working quietly and have obtained some startling results. Here is the list complete:

Hearing ourselves talk.
Articulating.
Listening to ourselves Elaborating.
Conversing.
Speaking.
And last, but not least, Talking.—The Bohemian.

GLORY COVERS THE LAX SAENGERFEST

"Frehsinn" March: and it was a treat to see the enthusiasm and thorough enjoyment of the singers themselves. The applause at the close was so whole-hearted that Herr Kelbe, in defiance of the Saengerbund rule prohibiting encores, was compelled to repeat the last stanza.

Miss Corie Seyferth. Miss Seyferth next gave an air from Saint-Saens' celebrated "Samson and Delilah," and it gives me great pleasure to record that she was in fine voice, and was deservedly applauded. In response to the demand for an encore, however, she contented herself with bowing her acknowledgments. The quality of her tone is excellent, and if she would cultivate more dramatic and better tone production in her upper register, she would quickly come to the front.

The prelude to "Lohengrin," which followed, was a disappointment. After the excellent work by the orchestra so far, it is with reluctance that I criticize this; but it was not satisfactory. It was taken too fast, and the idea of mystery which pervades it was quite lost sight of. Technically, of course, it was well played; but from the point of view of interpretation it was a failure.

The next number of the chorus was to use an Irishism, not one, but two. The first, "Sontag ist's," displayed the excellent shading of the chorus, and again Herr Kelbe had to defy convention by ordering a repetition of the last verse. The other, "Twinkled," was remarkable for the clever manner in which the melody was brought out by each voice in turn.

Miss Estelle Solon. Miss Estelle Solon, who had a fine reception, was in good form, and managed her voice very well. Her voice will probably gain richness in time, and will then be of very fine quality. As an encore she gave a delightful little song entitled "Where Blossoms Grow," by a personal friend of the singer.

Another "double-header" on the part of the chorus followed, including Licher's beautiful "Lebewohl," a favorite with all good Germans. In this, for the first and only time of the meeting, the chorus did not quite keep true to pitch, which marred what would otherwise have been a fine performance.

Herr Andersch.

An absolute treat followed in the next number, Herr Andersch giving one of the finest renderings of Schubert's dramatic "Erlkoenig" I have heard. He was enthusiastically recalled, but did not grant an encore. It is only fair to Herr Andersch to state that he has been laboring under difficulties throughout the Saengerfest. He is a "lieder" singer of great reputation in Europe, and naturally chose songs of this character, being unaware of the large size and acoustic peculiarities of the hall. It is of course impossible to bring out the finer points of "lieder" singing in a large building of this character, as it would be to play a string quartet adequately in the convention hall at Chicago. It is to be hoped that some day La Crosse people will have an opportunity of hearing Herr Andersch under conditions better suited to his undoubted ability.

The "Tannhauser" overture, one of the finest in existence, followed, but though finely played from a technical point of view, it suffered from peculiarities of time, the beautiful "Pilgrims' Chorus" with which it opens,

MINNESOTA AND THE NORTHWEST

ANGEL TELLS WHERE SHOULD MAYOR O. K. TO FIND BETTERHALF MUNICIPAL COURT?

ASSERTION OF JOHN MICHAEL OF WINONA WHO LOST FAMILY

DREAM AIDS IN WIFE HUNT

Husband Declares That in Dream He Was Informed of Wife's Location by Angel

CROOKSTON, Minn., July 27.—John Michael of Winona believes that he has found his wife, her sister and his three children at last. A trace of the baggage was found here and John hid himself away to Middle River and thence departed to Gatzke, twenty miles northeast of that north line city.

Michael believes that an angel came to him last night and told him the right road, notwithstanding the indications furnished by the baggage tracer here yesterday. He says that he was sleeping in one of the city hotels when a form appeared to speak and beckon to him. It was his wife's figure and he says he followed her in his dream to Middle River and thence northeast. He asked the police if there was such a place as Gatzke, and when informed there was, was highly elated and told the story of his dream.

His wife arrived here before him and departed for Middle River, the last railroad station, on her way to the home of her brother, Thompson by name, and who lies northeast of Middle River at Gatzke.

John could hardly wait until the train left the city and he at once will get on a claim which he will homestead and make his permanent residence.

TO OPEN LAND IN OCTOBER, '09

HURON, S. D., July 27.—United States Allotting Agent Gunderson has about completed the allotment of the Indians on the Standing Rock reservation. All children born within the last year have not as yet received allotment, and many small timber allotments cannot be made until cool weather. The surplus land on the reservation will now have to be appraised by a commission of three persons, who must finish their work in six months. They will not commence until next spring, so it is likely that the date for opening the lands on the Standing Rock reservation will be October 1, 1909. A large area of land will be open for settlement, but little is close to the railroad, as the Indians have made shrewd selections and good land within six miles of the Milwaukee road has been taken by Indians or mixed bloods.

INJURES SON WITH MOWER

CAYUGA, N. D., July 27.—While cutting barley Wenzel Kritz ran into his little son, three years old, who lay sleeping in the tall grain, and the sickle inflicted injuries that are likely to prove fatal. The cries of the child told the father of the accident. Doctors found that half of the boy's right thigh had been cut off, taking the flesh and muscle and leaving only the bone. His left arm is broken and the wrist half cut off. The child still lives, but there are slight hopes for his recovery, and he will be a cripple for life.

CADET WILL ENTER ARMY.

FARIBAULT, Minn., July 27.—The selection of Shattuck school by the war department at Washington as one of the schools entitled to the privilege of recommending one of the recent graduates to be examined for a commission as second lieutenant in the U. S. army. The next day and commandant recommended Chas. W. Wing of Carrington, N. D., to the secretary of war. He has passed the examination and will get his commission.

Put More In.—One morning, just before starting for school, little Bobbie, aged six years, was watching his mamma put up his noon lunch. Suddenly he said: "Mamma, I wish you'd let Katie put up my lunch instead of doin' it yourself. Won't you?" "It's no trouble, my dear." "I know." "Then why—" "Cause mamma, she's got a better appetite than you, an' she puts more in."

being taken too fast, and the "Venusberg" section too slow. The concluding portion, however, was well interpreted, and the work was much appreciated by the audience.

Miss Anna Hickisch.

Miss Hickisch pleased the audience immensely with her waltz-song "April Moon," and had to repeat the last verse. While however impressed by Miss Hickisch's singing of her songs, I am not so satisfied with the choice of them. Though singing at a German Saengerfest, she did not include a single number by a German composer, and, with the exception of the "Jewel" song from Faust, her selections were of a lightness of character scarcely suitable to so august a meeting.

Finally the chorus gave a magnificent rendering of Spohr's beautiful "Das Lied," in which the body and purity of tone was most excellent. And thus the great Saengerfest of 1908 came to a triumphant close in the city of its birth.

JUDGE STANTON SEEKS AUTHORITIES BEFORE RULING

MAYOR PLACES VETO TO ACT

Although Council Unanimously Passes Ordinance Law Requires Executive's Signature

BEMIDJI, Minn., July 27.—The proceedings to test the validity of the action of the city council of Bemidji in organizing a municipal court for Bemidji was considered Saturday morning by Judge Stanton in district court, when the application of M. G. Slocum for an injunction restraining the city from purchasing supplies for the municipal court and allowing the use of a room in the city hall as court room was brought before the court. F. A. Jackson appeared as counsel for Mr. Slocum while City Attorney Gibbons represented the city and members of the council. During the proceedings, P. J. Russell intervened as attorney for H. W. Bailey, who was recently appointed judge of the court.

Mr. Gibbons recited that the vote established the court was unanimous and that Mayor Pogue refused to sign the resolution, and in fact, vetoed the same, subsequently returning the resolution together with his reasons for the veto; that the council subsequently adopted the resolution over the mayor's veto by unanimous vote. All of this was admitted by the counsel for the plaintiff.

In his prayer for injunction the plaintiff stated that it would be a great expense incurred in establishing the court and the court would cause irreparable damage to the plaintiff.

Mr. Gibbons stated that the charter provided that a resolution could be passed over the mayor's veto if done by a four-fifths majority. In this instance the resolution had been passed unanimously over the mayor's veto. He stated that he believed that it was only a question of law as to the action required on the part of the mayor—whether he would veto the unanimous act of the council or not. The veto stand. Mr. Gibbons believed that it gave altogether too much power to one man.

BANKERS CLOSE WITH EXCURSION

DULUTH, Minn., July 27.—The fifteenth annual convention of the Minnesota Bankers' association was closed after a business session this morning during which the election of officers took place and the various committees reported on matters pertaining to the banking business. Reports were made also by the delegates to Atlantic City, and short talks were made by the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth-Superior representatives of the chapter of the American Institute of Banking. An informal discussion followed the speeches. The attendance has been a record breaker, more than 450 having registered at convention headquarters. The visitors left for a trip on Lake Superior to Isle Royale.

WILL BOOST ROAD VALUES.

PIERRE, S. D., July 27.—While the state assessment board has not yet filed assessment figures on railway property, the indications are that practically every branch of rail way property in the state will give a rise over the figures of last year, and when the final footings are shown some of the main lines of road in the state will be close to $9,000 a mile for an assessment price.

The express companies doing business in the state are also likely to find a decided rise in the figure which will be given them as an assessment rate for this year.

The arguments of Judge Atkins senior counsel for Mrs. Kauffman, on the application to the supreme court for a rehearing will be the longest argument ever presented to the court of this state, he having started Friday morning, and could not set time when he would be through at the noon adjournment of the court Saturday. His remarks may go over into next week.

GYPSIES FLEECE HORSETRADER

CROOKSTON, Minn., July 27.—Rufus Pinkerton, a horsetrader of Minneapolis, passing through this city on his way to Dakota, alleged he was robbed by gypsies west of this city for an unknown amount.

Jack Wilson and Pinkerton were on their way West, and had left the city three miles behind them, when they met the gypsy band with camp fires burning. They were persuaded by the gypsy women to have their fortunes told, and in some way fifty dollar bills played a part in the prognostications. The fifty dollar bills were not returned, the two men alleged. They further charge that one of the women tore up a bill belonging to Wilson, and while thus attracting the attention of the horse traders, the other woman made away with the fifty.

The police immediately departed on the trail of the gypsies, who had made their way back into the Dakotas. They were apprehended west of Grand Forks and turned over to the Minneapolis authorities and brought to this city.

EXHIBIT PICTURE FOR ANOTHER WEEK

The magnificent painting, "The Village Blacksmith," which has attracted such wide attention during its exhibition at Doerrlinger's, will be exhibited there for another week. Its popularity is such that the management has arranged to retain the picture on exhibition for another seven days so that those who have not already seen it will have the opportunity to view this masterpiece.

A French artist, was born in Cannes in 1859, and died in Lyons in 1893. This picture, one of the many fire-light pictures by this artist, was completed about three months before his death. The size of the canvas is 7x8 feet. It was painted in a blacksmith shop in Lyons, France. The public did not see it for nearly a year afterward. Mareau was a very poor man and at the time of his death was indebted to the blacksmith 100 francs for his services as a model and the use of the shop. The blacksmith, anxious to secure what was due him, called upon the widow, and informed her of the existence of the picture, and she at once endeavored to sell it. After showing it to a number of art dealers in Paris she was offered $2,500 for it by M. Douville, and the offer was accepted. He entered the canvases at the Grand Salon where it received a bronze medal and was resold for $12,500.00. It has changed hands five times since, each time the price increasing. The present owner, E. M. Thalls, of Boston, paid $42,500.00 for the canvases.

When it was brought to America it was first exhibited in Wanamaker's in Philadelphia. Since then it has been exhibited in that city five times. It has traveled over 70,000 miles in the United States, and has been viewed by over 12,000,000 people, who have been permitted to see it in the his stores in the greater American cities.

The only source of regret in the whole festival was that the whole auditorium was not completely filled with paid admissions at any concert. There were vacancies in the gallery every evening in spite of the thousands gathered in the auditorium. Otherwise the success of the festival is unquestioned and all those who enjoyed the hospitality of the city have nothing but good words for the committee which took charge of the thousand and one details that make things go harmoniously.

ASK JOHNSON TO TAKE STUMP

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 27.—W. J. Bryan has taken Governor Johnson at his word and has written autograph letters to inquire when his late opponent for the democratic presidential nomination will be available for active participation in the Bryan campaign.

Mr. Bryan's letter is a reply to Governor Johnson's telegram of congratulation upon the outcome of the Denver convention, in which the Minnesota governor not only expressed hearty wishes for the success of Mr. Bryan and the rest of the ticket, but also gave assurance of his hearty support in the campaign.

Mr. Bryan's letter is written in a friendly and even chummy tone and includes inquiry as to when Gov. and Mrs. Johnson are going to make "that long deferred visit to Lincoln."

Mr. Bryan says he has received many inquiries for Governor Johnson.

MISS JANE ADDAMS; PHILANTHROPIST

The world pays its greatest reward for one thing and one thing only—initiative. Miss Jane Addams is one of the most original and far-sighted philanthropists in the world. On many occasions she has shown her spirit of initiative in this city, but her crowning achievement has just been completed with the establishment of a college of charities. This is known as the Chicago School of Civics and Philanthropy and has been organized and will begin its work this summer. Miss Addams and Professor Graham Taylor are the chief promoters of the movement. It is the outgrowth of their own practical experience in dealing with the various charities of this city. It is their belief that a knowledge of civic affairs and municipal government is fundamental in dealing with the social problem and that charitable relief work is only incidental.

Lectures on municipal affairs are part of the daily course, which will amount to a professional training for students not only in charitable work, but in civic and municipal affairs.

Miss Addams' work in the Hull house has been before the public for many years and is well known. In addition to this she is a civic power outside of the school board appointed by Mayor Duane. Miss Addams proved that a female reformer may be "safe and sane."

She has effected great improvements in Chicago's system of teaching, and is now practically the controlling spirit of the board. Perhaps it is as a pioneer in the crusade for clean streets that this energetic lady has scored her greatest success. She started in her own ward with a volunteer brigade, and soon in other sections of the city. Determined to secure the abolition of the offensive receptacles for garbage that stood on the sidewalks for days at a time, she put in a bid for the contract to remove refuse. Failing to secure this, she applied for the position of garbage inspector and was appointed. After that the contractors found themselves impelled to unwanted activity, and in a short while a change came over the streets of Chicago which has been maintained.

SOCIETY

FIVE HUNDRED PARTY.

Saturday afternoon Mrs. Alex Hyslop entertained six tables at five hundred. The prizes were taken by Mrs. J. W. Russell and Mrs. L. B. Dickson. Miss Gertrude Haydon assisted the hostess in serving the guests. The visiting ladies from out of the city were Mrs. Carr and Mrs. Chapman of Minneapolis and Miss Calloway of Milwaukee. Other guests were Mesdames J. W. Russell, Albert Hardy, L. B. Dickson, S. L. Meister, Frank Cook, Winslow, Callahan, R. F. Weston, George Powell, Boyd, Soderberg, Geo. Schweizer, Donaldson, Alfred Harrison, Miner, Benton, Louis Hirschheimer, Kincaid, the Misses Belle Boyd, Minnie and Edna Walker.

SOCIAL BRIEFS.

Mrs. Fanny Hudson who has been spending a few weeks in Chicago, returned last evening.

Miss Barbara Russell left last evening for Chicago, where she is teaching a summer school.

Mrs. E. Pammel and Mrs. Schurz who have been visiting friends in the city during the Saengerfest, left for their homes in Chicago this noon.

Miss Ernie Maurer of Arcadia is visiting her uncle, Dr. A. A. Maurer.

Mr. Arthur Espersen is spending a few days at the Traer farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Washheimer of Minneapolis are the guests of Miss Anna Goodland. "Mr. Washheimer was one of the old La Crosse boys. Although his visits here are not frequent, still he has a kindly feeling for his old home and old friends.

Russell James who has been spending his vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred James, left this morning on the Quincy for Minneapolis.

Mr. Alfred James will leave this evening for Chicago, where he goes on a business trip. From there he will go to Kenosha and attend the golf tournament.

Prof. Weiland, Messrs. G. Van Steenwyk and R. C. Whitley left Saturday for Canada, where they will spend their vacation hunting and fishing.

Mrs. Thomas Utley, nee Ella Lindsay of Lancaster, Pa., is visiting her sister, Mrs. B. F. Keeler. This is Mrs. Utley's first visit to her old home since her marriage three years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Case of Madison, Wis., have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Hirschheimer.

Mr. W. A. Demorest of Rochester, N. Y., has been visiting his brother, J. M. Demorest, of 322 Mill street, during the Saengerfest. The brothers had not met for twenty-six years and it was a very pleasant surprise to Mr. J. M. Demorest.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Leithold are entertaining J. Leithold and daughter from Postville, Ia. Mr. Leithold, who is a brother of Fred, is also a dealer in musical instruments in his home city. Both are large dealers, and enjoy a splendid trade in their line. This was their first meeting in twenty years.

THANKS

La Crosse, Wis., July 27.

The singers have come and gone. La Crosse has celebrated an epoch in her history which will be remembered long after the children of today are the grandmothers of tomorrow. Results speak for themselves. No one who has witnessed the scenes of the past few days along the busy streets of La Crosse can doubt, or does doubt, the grand success attained by the saengerfest. Its benefits will be lasting. La Crosse has been advertised far and near, more extensively than would have been possible in many other ways.

Among the other powerful factors, La Crosse owes much toward the success of the late saengerfest, to the following named gentlemen; and as chairman of the advertising committee, I wish to extend my hearty and cordial thanks to both the English and German press of the city, who have extended us every privilege and courtesy in their power. To Mr. Shaw of the City Railway company, who gave us the free use of the advertising space on the street cars, for saengerfest publicity; to Mr. Peter Valier, of the Southeastern railroad, who allowed us the privilege of placing banners on the company's cars; to the management of the steamer Rutledge, and La Crosse for space on their boats, used to advertise the fest, by the means of banners placed thereon, and to Mr. Leigh Toland of Toland's business university, who early in the game offered us every privilege afforded by that splendid school, and who contributed free stenographers, addressers, and all needed typewriters used in the advertising office of the saengerfest committee; to the many business houses who assisted by distributing saengerfest publicity through their correspondence, and last, but not least, for the splendid assistance rendered by the members of the advertising committee. Mr. Harry H. Long, Mr. Carl Kurtenacker, Jr., Mr. John E. Langdon, Mr. Frank H. Burgess, Mr. Fred G. Cowles, Mr. Smith of the Nordstrom, Kern of the Volkstempel, and Soukup of the Vastanac. It has been a pleasure to work with these gentlemen, and I should esteem it a privilege any time to be associated with them again in any work for the public good. To all others who have added and abetted in the publicity work of the saengerfest.

I extend my sincere thanks,

Cordially,
HARRY C. WHITTIER,
Chairman of the Saengerfest Publicity Committee.

HOME FOR AGED NEAR MADISON, WHERE TAYLOR IS SPENDING DECLINING YEARS

MADISON, Wis., July 22.—Homeless and penniless, former Governor William R. Taylor, who scoured the railroads in the early seventies as champion of the "Granger" movement, just as La Follette is now doing, is spending his last days in a fashionable poorhouse near Madison. Thirty-five years ago it was different. In 1873 Taylor was swept into office by the "Granger" movement, one of the most unique uprisings that have ever colored the pages of western history. It was the movement on the part of "Patrons of Husbandry," as they were named by President Johnson. Early in his term he succeeded in having the "Potter" law enacted, corporations sent up a howl and presidents of the Northwestern and St. Paul railroads notified the governor that they would not obey the law. Immediately he issued a proclamation dated May 1, 1874, in which he enjoined in compliance with the statutes and declared that he would use the powers of his office to the limit in enforcing obedience. Similar laws were passed in Iowa, Illinois and Minnesota, but the haughty attitude of the Wisconsin railroads resulted in the matter being taken to the courts, where the United States supreme tribunal established, for the first time, the principle that the legislature can control corporations created by it. Around this decision has grown up all the laws of today which gives to the state powers to regulate freight and passenger rates and public service corporations.

The railroads defeated Taylor for re-election. He became interested in several enterprises which resulted in failure, throwing him into bankruptcy. In recent years all the money he could get together was spent in "bitting" the wheat market. In 1905 he sold his homestead and with $800 again took a "flyer" upon the Chicago market. Failure resulted and he was compelled to go to the Glisbort Home for the Aged, a semi-charitable home for the aged. Within the last ten years the fight which was started by Governor Taylor against the railroads has been revived by Senator La Follette and Taylor is generally given the credit for paving the way for the agitation that in its recrudescence is called "La Folletteism" or the "Wisconsin idea."

Governor Taylor was born in poverty 88 years ago; left an orphan at the age of six and has been compelled to spend his whole life among strangers. Even his declining years in poverty are spent with those whom he never knew in active life.

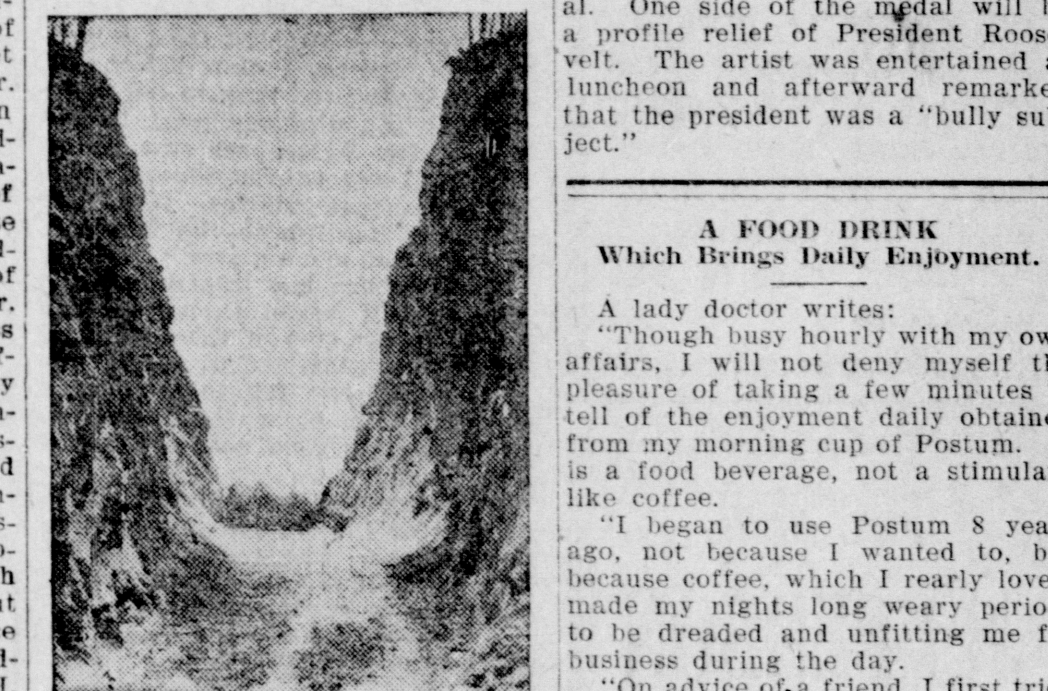

BOARD VIEWING MINDORO ROAD

SUPERVISORS TO ACCEPT IMPROVEMENT TODAY

REMARKABLE 65 FT. CUT

Finished Work Reduces the Grade and Lessens the Distance Between Salem and Mindoro

The sixty-five foot cut between West Salem and Mindoro on the road connecting these two villages has been completed and the board of supervisors has been invited to view the work today and a large number of the supervisors, including Supervisors Hulberg and Hodge, went to the scene to inspect the improvement and officially accept it for the county.

Picture Showing 65-Foot Cut in New Mindoro Road

The cut was made on a survey by City Engineer Bradish and the work was under the management of Contractor Darling. Wm. Bradley of West Salem is chairman of the committee in charge of the work.

The cut is sixty-five feet deep and is situated at the lowest point in the hills on the road between West Salem and Mindoro. The finished work reduces the grade to five feet per hundred feet, it hitherto having been about 18 feet to the hundred. The cut reduced the distance between the two towns by three-fourths of a mile and makes the teaming between the two places much better than it has been. The cost of the work is estimated at $8,000.

The board of supervisors was invited by the committee to inspect the cut Monday and is taking an all day outing. Dinner will be served by Contractor Darling and the board will return to the city in the evening.

MODEL OF ROOSEVELT'S FACE

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 27.—President Roosevelt today kept quiet for a time while Victor D. Brenner modeled his face in clay. Mr. Brenner is authorized to prepare a government medal to be bestowed upon men employed upon the Panama canal. One side of the medal will be a profile relief of President Roosevelt. The artist was entertained at luncheon and afterward remarked that the president was a "bully subject."

A FOOD DRINK Which Brings Daily Enjoyment.

A lady doctor writes: "Through busy hours with my own affairs, I will not deny myself the pleasure of taking a few minutes to tell of the enjoyment daily obtained from my morning cup of Postum. It is a food beverage, not a stimulant like coffee."

"I began to use Postum 8 years ago, not because I wanted to, but because coffee, which I really loved, made my nights long weary periods to be dreaded and unfitting for business during the day."

"On advice of a friend, I first tried Postum, making it carefully as suggested on the package. As I had always used 'cream and no sugar,' I mixed my Postum so. It looked good, was clear and fragrant, and it was a pleasure to see the cream color it as my Kentucky friend always wanted her coffee to look—'like a new saddle.'"

"Then I tasted it critically, and I was pleased, yes, satisfied with my Postum in taste and effect, and am yet, being a constant user of it all these years."

"I continually assure my friends and acquaintances that they will like Postum in place of coffee, and receive benefit from its use. I have gained weight, can sleep and am not nervous." "There's a Reason." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pks.

BIG SAENGERFEST ARTISTIC SUCCESS

GOES INTO HISTORY AS GREATEST EVER HELD

LAST SESSION ENTHUSIASTIC

Director Kelbe Given Fine Demonstration—Hickisch and Solon the Favorites

(By H. A. Hansen.)

The saengerfest is over. The exodus of visitors began Sunday evening and trains have been busy all night carrying away from La Crosse the thousands of singers and excursionists, who leave tired, but happy, and with a good word for La Crosse on their lips. Accommodations have been good and everyone is pleased. Everything that could be done was done by the local committee.

With the Volksfest on the fair grounds yesterday afternoon the festival came to an end. This was preceded by the parade, which began at 1 o'clock and proceeded to the grounds without interruption. All visiting singers and the local organizations scheduled to take part in the line. The march was one succession of flags and banners waving gaily in the breeze and a constant procession of men wearing many badges of bright colors. Section after section followed without delay, the bands being in some instances close together.

The singers contributed much to the gala appearance of the parade. Minneapolis carried banners in an automobile. Davenport appeared with Japanese umbrellas. The societies differed in headgear, but caps were favorites, members of a society dressing uniformly in this regard.

At the park a place was provided for every society but the singers soon disregarded the formalities and made visits to the different crowds. There was a lively carnival of song. Everybody was jolly, disregarding the warm weather.

Enthusiasm reigned supreme in

PRYOR 524 Main St.

The auditorium Saturday evening. The audience as well as the chorus took occasion to honor soloists and orchestra. Demonstrations followed each other rapidly. Each of the soloists was given a sendoff and then came the main event of the evening, the greeting extended to Director Kelbe. This began as soon as he mounted the platform and stopped only with the final number. The cheering, applause and pounding of the floor showed clearly that he had won the hearts of everyone and that his work as director was appreciated. After Saturday it would have been impossible for him to refuse re-election as director, for sentiment had crystallized so strongly in his favor that opposition was futile. The candidates that had been announced came out only on the understanding that he would not again be director. These disappeared with the demonstration.

FEST A SUCCESS IN ALL BUT FINANCES

ASSESSMENT ON GUARANTEE FUND NECESSARY

STATEMENT IS NOT PREPARED

Officers Cannot Make Statement Now, but Shortage Will Probably Exceed $6,000

"Although it will be a week before the financial statement of the Saengerfest can be ascertained," said President Doerflinger this morning, "it is known now that the fest was not self sustaining and we will have to make another assessment on the guarantee fund. As far as the music, the art and singing goes, it was a grand success with but one or two exceptions, and it was a great disappointment to the officers that the patronage to the concerts did not exceed the number that attended."

"The orchestra, the soloists and the choruses were all a great success and if the attendance at the concerts would have come up to the expectations it would have been the most successful Saengerfest in the history. The exact standing of the association will not be found out for several days, as there are a number of bills yet to come in and the reports of those having tickets for sale have not been definitely received."

"From what can be taken from the attendance at the various concerts I estimate that the receipts will amount to but a little over half of what was expected by the committee and those in charge."

When asked what he thought the reason was for the poor attendance, Mr. Doerflinger was unable to give a satisfactory answer.

"We secured the best talent possible for the concerts. Bach's orchestra was a great success, the choruses were a great success and the soloists with perhaps one exception was a success and why the people did not patronize the concerts I cannot tell."

Secretary John L. Utermoehl was interviewed on the success of the Saengerfest and carried the opinion of Mr. Doerflinger in regard to the great success of everything but the attendance at the concerts.

Failed to Reach Expectations.
"With probably one exception everything was in harmony with success," said Mr. Utermoehl. "The attendance failed utterly to come up to the expectations of those in charge. The singers and those in the concerts were very much surprised at the small attendance. While the last two evening concerts were fairly well attended, they did not pack the auditorium, as was expected, and failed to make a creditable showing for La Crosse. We will have a meeting of the general committee and the officers Saturday when the bill will be received and the reports of the various committees, and tickets will be able to give some statement of the finances, but at present we can hardly estimate approximately what the receipts are. It was a success in everything but the financial end, that is definitely known."

Good Advertisement for La Crosse.
Mr. Doerflinger stated that in some towns there has been as much as $25,000 to $50,000 spent in magazines and otherwise for the advertising of a town. In La Crosse last week La Crosse received a better advertisement in seven states that would cost that much. Every one went home with words of praise for La Crosse. Every one was pleased with the reception they received in La Crosse and spoke in complimentary terms of the cordiality extended by La Crosse.

It is roughly estimated that the shortage will be between $6,000 and $8,000, but these figures cannot be considered from an authoritative source.

HURT STEPPING OFF BACKWARD

Because she alighted from a moving train with her back to the engine, after lingering too long to bid good-bye to her son who was going to Milwaukee Mrs. E. Roebach sustained a severe fall and painful though probably not serious injuries. Mrs. Roebach owes her life to the fact that the train was moving slowly.

Mrs. Roebach had lingered on the train until it began to move. She hurried to the step of the coach and woman like attempted to get off the wrong way. She fell to the brick sidewalk with great force and received an ugly gash near the crown of her head.

Dr. Sultor was immediately called and dressed the wound, pronouncing it not serious. She was taken to her home at 1509 South Sixth street where she is resting easily.

OMAHA SINGERS SERENADE MAYOR

The victorious Omaha members of the Saengerbund were the guests of La Crosse singing societies today and were escorted over the city by the members of the La Crosse societies.

During the morning the Omaha singers went to the city hall where they enthusiastically serenaded the mayor and other city hall officials. The mayor responded in a brief address after which the visiting singers were escorted through the building and taken to the hall tower for a view of La Crosse.

The Nebraska singers are highly elated over their victory in securing the next festival and are spending the day here in a rousing manner.

This afternoon they went to the Staat's Regalia company on the north side where badges and other paraphernalia were ordered for a grand return to Omaha. They leave at 5:30 for their home in Omaha.

HIGH WATER DELAYED WORK

But Governmental Crews Expect to Start Out This Week to Rip Rap and Fix Up Dams

The latter part of this or the first of next week, the improvement work along the river under the direction of Capt. W. A. Thompson will be started. The work on the river this year has been greatly delayed by the high stage of water and there now remains a large amount of work to be taken up by the government department.

In former years the work has been started about the middle of June, but this year the water was so high that it made the work impossible and has just lately receded enough to allow the department to proceed with their work. The various departments are now arranging their work and expect to start about the first of August, going above La Crosse to improve the dams and the rip rap work. The regular men that are employed by the government in this work have been stationed at Fountain City and other division points along the river, where barges and other implements of the work have been given an overhauling.

The steamer David Tipton stopped at La Crosse for a time this morning en route from the Twin cities to the Illinois river. The boat has been between Minneapolis and St. Paul clearing the river of snags. The boat is now en route to the Illinois river, where it will be used for similar work.

APPENDICITIS CLAIMS VICTIM

After a four days' fight with appendicitis, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hammer of Hokah, was this morning forced to give in to the fight and after a struggle died at the La Crosse hospital. The lad was taken sick last week and Friday removed to the La Crosse hospital and everything done to relieve his sufferings, but a rupture of the appendix at 7 o'clock this morning caused his death.

The body will be shipped this evening over the Southern Minnesota to Hokah where the funeral will be held from the family residence Wednesday. Father Dolle will conduct the services.

AGED PAIR FEEL DAN CUPID'S DART

Probably the oldest couple to take out a license to wed in this county since the keeping of the records are M. John Alberts Mann, aged 70, of this city, and Mrs. Regina Dolin, aged 70, of La Crosse.

They secured the license to wed today but when the marriage will take place is not known.

Among the others to secure licenses in the last three days are Dr. Shegataro Morikubo and Miss M. Louise Harrison of this city. George D. Saunders of Springfield, O., has taken out a permit to marry Miss Mable Loveland of this city and one has also been issued to John J. Kotnour and Miss Lena A. Sikorski of La Crosse.

SUN RESTAURANT MAN DISAPPEARS

L. W. KING AND OTHERS SECURE A WARRANT

LEFT MANY BILLS UNPAID

Butcher, Milk Man, Bike Man and His Employes Clamoring; Father Won't Recognize Constable

After running a meat bill at the shop of Dominic Jehlen on Third street for considerable over $200, buying a bicycle of L. W. King and failing to pay for it, leaving a milk and sundry other bills unpaid, Wm. Hantreas, proprietor of the Sun restaurant on North Third street, is alleged to have departed for parts unknown.

One of the first to discover his absence was L. W. King, the local bicycle man. Hantreas had, but a short time ago, purchased a bicycle from L. W. King. His agreement was ten dollars down and he was to have it for one week on trial. When he failed to show up after the week was up Mr. King looked him up only to find that he had left town. Inquiries as to his whereabouts failed to develop anything. With the discovery made by Mr. King the other business men about the city who had allowed him to run bills, became aroused. A warrant has been issued for his arrest. The cooks and waitresses around the restaurant are also complaining that in his hurry to get away he neglected to pay them.

A local constable, armed with a writ of attachment, went to the restaurant with the purpose of seizing the property belonging to Hantreas, but there he met the father of the man, James Hantreas. He refused to acknowledge the authority of the constable with the result that a warrant was taken out for him, charging him with resisting an officer. His trial was postponed until next week and in the meantime the search for his son will be kept up.

TO NAME HISGEN FOR PRESIDENT

take the leadership and bring the elements together. He declares he will express no preference as to what the convention shall do. He will act as temporary chairman and will indicate what he thinks the platform should demand. But he and his lieutenants declare openly that under no circumstances will they express a preference as to who shall be the nominee for the presidency. So twelve avowed and a half hundred "willing to be drafted" candidates will continue the merry warfare until time for the nominations to arrive tomorrow.

Not All for Ticket.
Real opposition to naming the national ticket at this time cropped up today. There is a general sentiment among the middle western delegates of the opposition to putting a national ticket in the field. They say this is not the best time to impress the voters of the country. They want

Charles F. S. Neill was an early possibility for the nomination of president of the United States by the Independence party.

the convention to adopt a declaration of principles for the benefit of the party at large, concentrating their influence to electing state officials in states where it is strong. Their suggestions are not being well received, and the big chiefs are insisting the convention put a ticket in the field, no matter how many or how few votes are polled.

Whether there will be a fight on this proposition on the floor or not, is hard to forecast, but it is likely the "dissenters" will be called off before the business session begins.

The platform will follow the lines of the original call for the convention. It will advocate the "Hearst policies." The New York editor is understood to have most of the main planks with him for ready insertion.

SEEKS AMERICAN AID

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—Tenshaoyi, the representative of the Chinese government here, is believed to be preparing to ask American support for the recovery of the administration of Manchuria from Japan, also to ask the United States to stop the activity of the Chinese revolutionists.

FINAL PICNIC IS CROWNING EVENT

MERRY MAKING AT THE FAIR GROUNDS SUNDAY

SINGERS HAVE A JOLLY TIME

Mayor Anderson Visits Various Delegations and Joins in the Festivities

If the mayor loves music, he must have had a delightful week. His almost constant presence at the auditorium during the saengerfest concerts was noted. Beside he was serenaded twice at his home and once at the city hall during the song festival.

This morning His Honor (sometimes spelled "Hizoner") was the recipient of the last serenade. It was by the Omaha contingent, the members of which marched from their private car to the city hall, where they sang delightfully. There was no disguising the fact that Dr. Anderson was genuinely pleased by this attention, accepting it as a testament of the city's guest regard for their official welcome and entertainment by the city as satisfactory.

The Omaha men like La Crosse. They are going to entertain the saengerbund two years hence, and they appreciate a fine city, because Omaha is that sort of a city.

Closing Night of cFst.
From a standpoint of sociability and a general good time the monster folks fest or picnic at the fair grounds Sunday afternoon was the crowning, as well as the closing event, of the saengerfest.

The business meeting was held in the morning and in the afternoon the parade wended its way to the fair grounds. There, between the exhibition building and the grand stand, along the west part of the grounds tents had been arranged in streets, and here were housed the various delegations of singers. Thousands of La Crosse, West Salem, Bangor, Viroqua and other outside people joined in the festivities and during the entire afternoon and until dusk the festivities continued.

The delegations enjoyed the day in singing and visiting each other's tents and refreshments were on tap during the entire day. A large number of prominent La Crosse Germans joined in the merry-making, and it was like an old fashioned German picnic in every detail.

Mayor Anderson helped the guests feel at home by mingling and being a general "good fellow." The mayor visited the various delegations and at opportune times made short addresses to the delegations assuring them of the city's appreciation of their presence and the general hand of good fellowship which they will always find extended in La Crosse. After the picnic at the fair grounds the guests of the city returned down town and made things merry until a late hour, many returning home on the late trains, although a large number of the visitors remained over in La Crosse until today.

KENLON'S BOAT IS SMASHED AT DOCK

A launch with a party of saengerfest visitors on board while attempting to make a landing at the public landing place at the foot of State street about 11 o'clock Saturday night ran into R. L. Kenyon's launch which was anchored at the wharf. Mr. Kenyon's boat has been kept there by its owner.

The other launch was coming down stream and while trying to make a landing at the wharf, ran into the Thistle and stove in the stern.

It seemed that the party did not land when they saw what had happened but proceeded farther down the river and landed at one of the boat houses below the bridge. Mr. Kenyon said today: "It is a wonder that the boat didn't sink as the whole stern was knocked in. The other launch evidently waded around to see if it would go down and when they saw that it still floated they landed below the bridge. The boat was badly damaged, and it will cost about $100 to put it back into shape again."

CARS START IN TWO DIRECTIONS

About 2:30 yesterday afternoon a peculiar accident happened at the corner of Fourth and Main street and only a miracle saved a number of people from being probably severely cut.

One of the street cars with a trailer was starting and at the switch the car started up Main street, and the trailer caught the switch and started over Fourth. In some manner the electric light post was swung to one side and the large glass bulb broken, sending the glass over the sidewalk near the Hebbard drug store.

Had the accident happened a few minutes before several were standing near the spot and would have been severely cut by the flying glass.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 27.—The recent session of the legislature, which lasted seventeen months, cost the state $446,675.

Diarrhoea, Colic and Cholera Morbus

Are diseases that require prompt attention.

In almost every neighborhood some one has died from these diseases before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned.

Those who rely upon physicians often find that they are away from home when most needed.

Every family, and especially those who reside on farms and ranches, miles from any drug store or physician should keep at hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

No physician can prescribe a better medicine for the purposes for which it is intended.

The remarkable cures effected by this remedy, in all parts of the country, have made it the acknowledged standard.

It can always be depended upon to effect a quick cure, and when reduced with water is pleasant to take.
It is equally valuable for children and adults.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION TO COUNTY COURT
State of Wisconsin, County Court, La Crosse County, ss. In Probate

Notice is hereby given that at a special term of the County Court, appointed to be held in and for said County, at the Court House, in the City of La Crosse, in said County, on the 1st Tuesday, being the fourth day of August, A. D. 1908, at ten o'clock a. m., the following matter will be heard and considered, namely: The petition of Wm. S. B. roughs of the City of La Crosse, named as executor, praying to have admitted to probate the last will and testament of Martha E. Roddie, late of the town of Onalaska, in said County of La Crosse, deceased, and for the appointment of petitioner as executor thereof.

Dated July 13th, A. D. 1908.
By order of the Court,
JOHN BRINDLEY,
County Judge.

BRYAN DECLINES TO MEET HEARST MEN
CHICAGO, July 27.—Chairman Mack of the democratic committee left today for Buffalo. Tuesday he will announce the personnel of the national executive committee. The chairman will be John E. Lamb of Indiana; Joseph Daniels of North Carolina will be vice chairman. Among others will be Sullivan of Illinois; Garber of Ohio, and representatives of every doubtful state.

Before Wm. J. Bryan left for Lincoln last night, an attempt was made to have him meet the leaders of the independent party. He positively refused to have anything to do with them, insisting that his time is "fully occupied in seeing the members of his own party."

National headquarters will be opened in the Auditorium Annex, the entire floor on the lake front side of the structure having been engaged. The branch headquarters will be at the Hoffman House, New York. It has been decided that Bryan will make a stirring campaign, speaking in all doubtful states. Bryan and Kern will go to the coast, as Oregon and California are declared to be doubtful.

PAYS FORTUNE FOR HORSE.

NEW YORK, July 27.—William Bradley's purchase of the 15-year-old trotting stallion, Bingen (2:06 1/4), for the reported price of $40,000, is taken by followers of harness racing to indicate that Governor Hughes' crusade against bookmaking and poolselling is not going to kill the trotting in New York. The price is probably the highest ever given for a trotter of Bingen's age. Mr. Bradley is one of the leading contractors of New York.

CHIEF BRADFIELD AND DRIVER HURT

FIRE CHIEF'S RIG TIPS WHEN WHEEL HITS ROCKS

CHIEF'S WRIST IS BROKEN

And Driver, Who is Less Fortunate, Lies Unconscious at Hospital for Several Hours

As a result of the chief's wagon striking a pile of crushed rock in the street while responding to an alarm early Sunday morning, Fire Chief Nathan Bradfield lies at his home with right wrist broken in two places, his hand badly lacerated and a deep gash in his forehead. His head is otherwise bruised. His driver, Julius (Butch) Fay, lies at the La Crosse hospital in a serious condition from bruises about the head and hands.

An alarm was turned in at 4 o'clock when the barn in the rear of the home of Dr. Will Powell was discovered to be afire. The horse cart and truck had passed out of the station and at the corner of Fifth and State street the chief's rig started to pass the truck, when the front wheel struck the pile of crushed rock in the street.

Both Men Thrown Out

As the front wheel struck the stone the axle snapped and the horse was going at such a speed that it was impossible to control him and the buggy was tipped over, throwing the chief and Fay to the brick paving.

The chief struck on his hands and knees with such force that it broke his wrist and he plunged forward, sliding on his face and hands.

Fay was thrown out and landed on the side of his head, rendering him senseless while the horse jumped up and continued to the fire. He dragged the buggy as far as Eighth street and there got loose. He ran as far as Ninth street and fell down. The horse laid there for some time and finally got up and returned to the station seeing the accident, rushed stat and picked up the chief and Fay. The chief was able to return to the station with the assistance of the men and later Dr. Egan ordered him to the hospital. Fay, who was unconscious, was taken to the hospital immediately in the ambulance, where Dr. Sutor dressed the wounds.

Neither Seriously Hurt

This morning the chief was able to be removed to his home. Fay was unconscious most of the time yesterday and it was not until this morning that the attending physicians could make an examination of the wounds. After an examination it was found that the injuries were not as serious as first supposed and other than a severe jolt and badly lacerated head, he is not seriously hurt. The accident happened just at dawn and was still rather dark. The street light was out and according to a number of the firemen the light on the pile of stone was not lighted, although Mr. Woolley of the firm of Woolley & Hanson, stated that the light was burning. The pile of stone, however, protruded far out in the street and as the street at that point curves, it made the passage of two rigs almost impossible.

Fire Easily Extinguished

The fire which was caused by spontaneous combustion as a result of a bunch of greasy rags being thrown in a corner, did not amount to very much, as it was extinguished in a few minutes. The department, however, made a fast run to the fire and saved the Tribune prize automobile, owned by Miss Mae Aiken, which is kept in the barn.

To show their appreciation for the work of the firemen Mr. Aiken yesterday morning gave the boys a box of cigars and Miss Aiken thanked each fireman and promised them a ride in her auto in the near future.

CROWD ATTENDS WINONA EXCURSION
A crowd from Winona came down on the Doerflinger excursion Saturday, reaching the levee at noon in time to do afternoon shopping and to attend the children's matinee at the Saengerfest. Harry Whittier, chairman of the Saengerfest publicity committee, accompanied the boat to Lansing Thursday evening and made the trip to Winona Thursday night to accompany the excursion from Winona to La Crosse Saturday morning. The Doerflinger excursions are growing in popularity and a great many people in the neighboring towns are taking advantage of them to come to town to visit and shop.

SHARPSHOOTERS IN SAENGERFEST PARADE
Owing to the saengerfest being held here the La Crosse sharpshooters held no meet yesterday. Instead they formed in a body and took part in the great "Saengerfest parade."

The next shoot will be held Sunday.

CRUISER RUNS AGROUND
CUXHAVEN, July 27.—The Russian cruiser Almaz with Premier Stolpin aboard went aground today near Gluckstadt, a seaport about thirty miles from Hamburg, but was floated off unaided and proceeded on its voyage. The cruiser Almaz took the Russian premier, foreign Minister Isvolsky and minister of marine, Vice Admiral Dikoff, to Revel at the meeting of Emperor Nicholas and King Edward. Premier Stolypin since then has been spending his vacation on board the cruiser. The Almaz is a protected cruiser of 3,285 tons displacement.

DEMOCRATS FRAME UP TICKET TONIGHT

FULL LIST OF CANDIDATES TO BE PREPARED

HOOD FOR DIST. ATTORNEY

He Will Make Run for the Democrats—Doherty Expects to Carry County This Fall

Tonight the La Crosse democrats will hold a meeting in the office of Chairman John F. Doherty for the purpose of completing a slate for the county offices, to be put up at the coming fall election. Among the important announcements made today is that Attorney C. L. Hood will be the democratic candidate for the office of district attorney. The other men on the ticket will be selected tonight and the circulation of their nomination papers will be started tomorrow.

Mr. Doherty is very optimistic over the prospects this fall, and believes that the democrats stand a good show of sweeping the county. There is only 800 majority to overcome, and he believes that with the change of heart on Bryan, as the opposing candidate to Taft, the county can be carried for the democratic party with well directed effort.

While there is no official list of candidates the following, it is said, will run for the offices named:

District attorney—C. L. Hood.
Sheriff—John Mohr.
Assembly, Second district—E. J. Kneen, Bangor.

Register of deeds—E. Scheuffler.
County clerk—J. L. Utermoehl (probable).

MINNESOTA IN THE REAR
HONOLULU, July 27.—Wireless messages received here gave the position of the American fleet at 8 o'clock tonight at latitude 9 degrees, 32 minutes north; longitude 163 degrees west, a distance of 75 miles from Honolulu. The weather was reported fair and warm with a moderate sea. The Minnesota, which at that hour was 300 miles astern of the fleet, was making fourteen knots and was expected to rejoin the fleet on Thursday.

HOLD STATE LAND SALE.
FERGUS FALLS, Minn., July 27.—State Auditor E. G. Iverson held a state land sale in this city, but nearly all of the state land in this county had been disposed of in previous sales, and only a few pieces were bid in at this time, the total amounting to only 340 acres. The prices were $8 and $9 per acre.

SPORTING NOTES

KENOSHA IS MECCA FOR STATE GOLFERS

ANNUAL STATE TOURNAMENT STARTS ON THURSDAY

ENTRY LIST BREAKS RECORD

La Crosse Enthusiasts to Be Represented Strong—Several Leave Today in Automobiles

KENOSHA, Wis., July 27.—Kenosha will be the center of the Wisconsin golf world this week. The annual Wisconsin state tournament will open on the links of the Kenosha Country club next Thursday morning and it is expected that the gathering will prove one of the most interesting ever held among Badger golfers.

The entry list will not be made public until Wednesday evening but already Secretary Yule has received more than fifty entries and it is certain that the total number of entries will be over 120. The high water mark for the Badger Golf association was reached at Madison last year, when ninety golfers took off for the qualifying round. Assurances received in Kenosha indicate that this year there will be at least thirty more entries than at Madison.

New Clubs Represented.
Small delegations are coming from the new clubs at Sheboygan, Eau Claire and Appleton, but old time clubs like the Milwaukee Country club, the Blue Mound club of Milwaukee, the La Crosse, Janesville, Oshkosh and Madison clubs are planning to send large delegations. The Blue Mound club is already being mentioned as the place for the holding of the next state tournament, and it is thought that the Blue Mounders will make a special effort to come to Kenosha in force.

During the week just closed the Kenosha links have been crowded with visiting golfers. Hamilton Vose of Milwaukee, H. H. Cutler and H. S. Hadfield of the Blue Mound club, State Champion Frank Jacobs and a host of others have been busy on the links getting in form and acquainting themselves with the links before the opening of the tournament.

Links are Picturesque
The picturesque Kenosha links stretching for a half mile along the lake shore will be in great shape for the tournament. The committee in charge has spent hundreds of dollars since the opening of the season to have the links in perfect condition for the tournament and the visitors of the past week declare that it would be impossible to improve upon the present condition. Large additions have been made to furnish accommodations for the visitors.

The Kenosha committee will be headed by Peter Fisher, president of the Kenosha club, and he will have as his aids Charles W. Allen, the veretan Kenosha golfer; John M. Kehlor and W. L. Yule, secretary of the state association. Tom Bendalow will preside at the home tea at the opening of the tournament and John M. Kehlor, who was in charge of the scoring at the last tournament held in Kenosha, will again be in charge of this feature. The officials of the state organization will be in Kenosha on Wednesday to arrange the final rules and all will remain during the three days' play.

Serve Meals on Grounds
The Kenosha club has arranged to have meals served at the club house during the entire week so that it will be unnecessary for the golfers to leave the ground during the day.

There will be so many features in the Kenosha tournament that there is plenty of sport assured for all players. The program published several weeks ago provides sports for the champions and near-champions, but the members of the Kenosha club have arranged for a great number of added features which will furnish amusement for the women as well as the men.

The trophies which have been provided are the finest ever offered at a state tournament. There will of course be the usual medal for the state champion, and in addition there will be twenty solid silver cups for different events in connection with the tourney.

CLUBS ALL DRAWING WELL, SAYS MOLL
According to President Moll all the cities in the Wisconsin-Illinois league are supporting their teams in splendid style. Madison is the leading city in point of attendance despite the fact that the club has been down in the race for a greater part of the season. The other towns have also drawn well, Rockford being second. Fond du Lac is third, Wausau fourth, Oshkosh fifth, Freeport sixth, La Crosse seventh, and Green Bay eighth. President Moll left Saturday for Green Bay with Umpire Hoffmann who officiated in Saturday's game.

A confidence man naturally has no confidence in any man but himself.

New York Stocks
NEW YORK, July 27.—The first hour the market showed a wavering tone and demonstration by those committed to long side. There was not enough demand to absorb the increased offerings and at the end of the hour prices generally showed moderate declines. London was bought on fairly large scale. The advance brought selling orders from many sources and the early strength was followed by a general downward movement in which everything traded in yielded at the same time.
Government bonds unchanged, others quiet and steady.

THE NEW GEORGIA STATE CAPITOL

ATLANTA, Ga., July 23.—The Georgia state legislature proposes protection for mere man. If a bill introduced by George Glenn, representative from Whitfield county in the state legislature, and favorably considered by many members of the house, shall become law, matrimonial duplicity leading to connubial infelicity, will be legally tabooed.

The measure provides that marriages shall become null and void when the man is lured into matrimony through the use by women of cosmetics, paints, scents, powder, lingerie, lace, dropstitch hose, peek-a-boo shirt waists and other aids to beautification. The bill has been referred to the committee on ways and means for consideration and report.

MANY TREES HAVE "CRIMINAL" ALIASES

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 27.—Some kinds of trees have as many aliases as the criminal with the longest police court record. For many reasons this is most unfortunate. To scientists, the confusion which results when people mean different things by the same word or use different words for the same thing, is intolerable, and therefore they use a carefully devised and carefully guarded system of nomenclature.

The every-day man is apt to be impatient with what seems the pedantic fondness of the botanist for jaw-breaking Latin names which mean nothing to the uninitiated, when common usage supplies a familiar name. But the trouble is that on the familiar name there is seldom any agreement. The difficulty is generally over what the botanist calls the specific name. It is easy enough to tell an oak from a maple or a pine from a spruce. But oak, maple, pine, and spruce are generic names, and each genus includes a number of species. Here begins a confusion which often approaches chaos.

Not only do different localities apply different names to the same species and the same name to different species, but in the same locality several different names may be used for a single species.

The local names given to the 47 different oaks which form forest trees in the United States are almost without limit. The true white oak, however, the noblest tree of the oak tribe, seems to have no nickname except in Arkansas, where it is occasionally known as stove oak. But a good many other kinds are also called white oak.

As illustrative of the confusion which exists in different localities regarding the names—what is called black locust in Pennsylvania is yellow locust in Massachusetts, white locust in New York, red locust in one part of Tennessee and green in another. In Maine it is simply locust, in Louisiana acacia, in Minnesota honey locust, and in Maryland post locust. These many names overlap and are not strictly separated by state lines. On the other hand, the true honey locust (which belongs to an altogether distinct genus from the black locust) is known also as black locust, sweet locust, thorn locust, locust, three-thorned acacia, thorn-tree, honey shucks, piquant amourette, confederate pintree, and a few other names. And there are dozens of other examples in species where the confusion of names is appalling.

The birches are rich in names, and clinging after the lumber reaches market. "Cherry" and "mahogany" furniture may be made from what in Maine is known as sweet birch.

"STOP" SIGNAL SAVES LIFE

ROCHESTER, Minn., July 27.—J. D. McGrath of Winona, a brakeman on the Great Western road, nearly lost his life while uncoupling cars at Simpson. His foot got caught in a frog while he was trying to move the lever which raises the coupling pin. As the train was slowly moving toward him he was thrown to the ground, and in another instant would have been killed if the engineer had not happened to see the brakeman's signal to stop, which the latter gave the moment he was held fast in the rails. As it was, one wheel passed over his leg, crushing and mangling the fleshy part of the limb, but not a bone was broken nor dislocated. If the train had gone a few feet farther it would have crushed him to death.

EXPERT CANOIST DROWNS IN LAKE

CRAFT OVERTURNS DURING HIS EXHIBITION

NEARLY MEET THE SAME FATE

Three Men Who Tried to Rescue John Langermann Have Narrow Escape From Death

KENOSHA, Wis., July 27.—John Langermann was drowned in the lake off Kenosha this afternoon.

Langermann was giving an exhibition of handling of a canoe in the presence of more than a hundred people when the canoe was capsized and he went down. Members of the 101 Ranch company were near the spot watering cattle. When the canoe capsized four of the troupe made an effort to rescue Langermann, but when a hundred feet from shore were caught in an undertow and found that it was impossible for them to go any farther. Three of the men narrowly escaped drowning themselves in their efforts to save the man.

Langermann, after the canoe capsized, had managed to get hold of the sinking boat, but it would not sustain his weight. The Kenosha lifesaving crew is still dragging for the body but it is feared that it was carried out into the lake. Langermann was 35 years of age and is survived by a widow and five children. He was well known in Kenosha and was an excellent canoist.

MILWAUKEE RIVER GETS THREE LIVES

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 27.—Alice and Jennie Anderson Appleton, Wis., and Edward Schoenebeck, a clerk, were drowned in the upper Milwaukee river off Riverside park at night when a canoe was capsized.

Thomas Hanson, a sponsor, who resides at 164 Concordia avenue, was rescued by Charles Busch.

The canoe was capsized by the steamer Whittaker's wash as it passed up the river on its way to Pleasant Valley.

The canoe was capsized twenty feet from shore. Schoenebeck was seized by the two women and drowned because he was unable to swim with the women hanging to him.

One of the women took hold of Hanson, but he managed to break away and had sufficient strength left to keep afloat until pulled ashore by Busch.

The Anderson girls were sisters-in-law of Hanson.

UNDER WATER 15 MINUTES AND LIVES

GRAND RAPIDS, Wis., July 27.—A drowning tragedy was narrowly averted in this city at the swimming pool near the north end of the Green Bay & Western railroad bridge. Clarence Emmes, the 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Emmes, was in bathing with several boy companions, all of whom could swim with the exception of Clarence, and for the safety of those who could not swim a life line was stretched around the wading part of the swimming hole. Clarence wandered beyond the life line, lost his footing in about six feet of water and sank to the bottom without giving an alarm. The other boys missed their companion in about fifteen minutes and a search was made for him. George Henry saw young Emmes lying on the bottom of the pool and he dove to the bottom and brought the apparently lifeless remains to the shore. Medical aid was summoned, with the result that he was resuscitated in about twenty minutes, after which he was taken to his home.

LAY CORNERSTONE OF FINE NEW SCHOOL

KENOSHA, Wis., July 27.—German Lutherans from all parts of southern Wisconsin came to Kenosha this afternoon to attend the services of the laying of the cornerstone for the new German Lutheran school here. The sermons were preached by the Revs. Carl Gausewitz of Milwaukee and W. C. Herrmann of Chicago.

PAUPER MAY BE WEALTHY.

APPLETON, Wis., July 27.—Mrs. Frederica Lorenz, aged 95 years, a pauper in the town of Ellington, is said to have received information from Germany that she is the sole heir to a fortune estimated at several millions. Papers are said to have been found under a hearth stone in the old home of Gen. Witthun at Prenzlau, Prussia, bequeathing a vast estate to Mrs. Lorenz and a number of Appleton relatives.

COMMISSIONER TO MAKE LONG TRIP

Waterways Commissioner Reid and son Lucien leave Tuesday Tuesday on their trip down the Mississippi and up the Ohio river on their launch, the "Black Beauty." The trip is for the purpose of obtaining all the information possible about the navigation on these two rivers and will be one of hard work throughout. It will occupy some time and they may not return to the city for several weeks.

SHOOT WOODSMAN IN SALOON BRAWL

JOE BUTCH STARTS FIGHT AND IS KILLED

BULLET PIERCES HIS LUNGS

Is Carried to Doctor, but Dies on His Way—Had $50 Before Fight, but Was Robbed

HURLEY, Wis., July 27.—Joe Butch, a woodsman, was shot in the saloon of Dolph LaMode at Mercer by the proprietor and died from the effects of the wound. The shooting is said to have been the culmination of a saloon brawl in which LaMode was getting worsted.

Butch accompanied by his brother came to Mercer from Woodruff and during the afternoon and evening is said to have drunk quite freely. At about 11 o'clock at night Butch became involved in a quarrel with LaMode and in the following fight the lights in the saloon were suddenly put out.

LaMode, who was getting the worst of the contest, cried for some one to relight the lamp. In the meantime, it is said, he drew his revolver from his pocket and as soon as light had been restored he pulled the trigger, the bullet taking effect in Butch's lungs. Bystanders at once picked up the wounded man who had fallen bleeding to the floor and hurried him to this city where he died soon after arrival.

It is claimed that Butch had $57 on his person when he entered the saloon, but on being searched after the shooting his pockets were found empty.

AUTO DASHES INTO A DEEP RAVINE

RACINE, Wis., July 27.—J. J. Harnon, one of the wealthiest automobile dealers in Chicago, and his father, came near being killed at the hill between this city and Kenosha. The brake refused to work when the machine was on the top of the hill and the large 50 horsepower Thomas machine went crashing down over an embankment of twenty feet and landed in a ravine. The machine did not capsize which saved the occupants from being instantly killed. Both were bruised and badly shaken up.

FIND PRE-HISTORIC MAN'S SKELETON

RHINELANDER, Wis., July 27.—Two Chicago summer resorters, Geo. Patton and L. H. Eaton, found the remains of a massive skeleton at Pelican lake. It was nearly eight feet long and the arms extended several inches below the hips. Buried with the bones in the same mound, were trinkets of various kinds among these a stone hatchet, a copper knife, several strange copper rings, and a necklace made of the tusks of some prehistoric animal.

NATIONAL HEALTH ASSURED BY FOOD

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 27.—A committee of one hundred of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, including such people as Rev. Lyman Abbott, Jan. Adams, Archbishop Ireland and John Mitchell, the great labor leader, have taken up an active campaign for securing the establishment of a national department of public health. President Roosevelt has declared the national health is one of the country's greatest assets and is assisting the work of these advocates for a vigorous nation.

One of the important features of this movement is the growing sentiment among men of science that the doping of harmful and poisonous drugs, is vastly injurious and not beneficial to the national health. Mr. Eugene Christian, 7 East 41st street, New York, a food scientist who has effected many cures through proper feeding than a score of physicians of ordinary practice could with drugging, is an enthusiastic advocate of this new national bureau. Mr. Christian maintains that a properly nourished body will eliminate disease, and that a sufferer placed upon a diet carefully selected from the standpoint of proper nourishment and food chemistry, will be cured of all diseases of the digestive, assimilative and excretory organs. Mr. Christian's theories have met with enthusiastic support from such prominent people as Elbert Hubbard and Ella Wheeler Wilcox, and people in all parts of the country who have lost faith in drugs are writing him and securing advice on what to eat to regain and maintain health.

The committee of the American Association for the advancement of Science, which is advocating the new national department, is sending literature to prominent men and women in all parts of the country urging their co-operation in a sane and sensible system of assuring public health.

NEW CAMPAIGN ISSUE MADE BY OIL RULING

CHICAGO, July 27.—Walter Wellman says: "Without doubt the political effect of the Grosscup decision in the celebrated Standard Oil $29,000,000 fine case is to be hurtful to Taft. Without doubt another effect is to be the injection of the judiciary into the political campaign as an issue before the people."

"Confirmation of the prevalent belief that the political effect is likely to be injurious to republican chances in the fall election is found in the eagerness and alacrity with which President Roosevelt demands a re-hearing of the case."

"If anyone doubts the depth and breadth of the feeling produced among the masses of the people by this decision let him talk with his neighbors, with 'the plain people,' with 'the man in the street,' with 'the average man.' If he does this he will find a wide-spread belief that President Roosevelt and the administration at Washington are sincere and earnest in their determination to mete out punishment to all offenders against the law regardless of everything; that an influential part of the republican party looks upon such procedures against corporations as inimical to the business interests of the country and as a wicked and destructive policy; that this element of the party may again become masterful in the party councils after Roosevelt shall have passed from the stage; that Taft may or may not be earnest and strong in his determination to carry out the Roosevelt policies, or that he may be sincere and honest enough, but that he is surrounded by influences which will naturally tend to make him less and less radical and energetic and more and more inclined to take things easy and return to the old ways as soon as the driving power of Roosevelt's enthusiasm and energy is missing from the administrative machinery; that if this should happen the country would witness a resumption of what many believe to be the natural policy of the republican party in power—'letting things alone'—so that business may prosper and no one in enterprise or industry need be afraid; in other words, that the Rooseveltian era of stirring things up, seeking new reforms, trying to punish guilty corporations, justice for high and low alike, will gradually be permitted to disappear and remain only as a memory in the minds of the people. This is the direction the popular mind is taking at the present moment, and this decision has accentuated and aggravated it."

LOVE PRESIDENT'S TOPIC

CHICAGO, July 27.—President Roosevelt showed himself in an idyllic frame of mind yesterday. He arrested the grinding of official duties long enough to pen an affectionate little note to his old friend, Herman H. Kohlsaat, agent of the approaching marriage of Mr. Kohlsaat's daughter, to whom he referred as "dear little Pauline."

Having done this, the president went further and enclosed an autograph message in a delicate blue envelope for Miss Kohlsaat, herself.

The note conveyed Mr. Roosevelt's heartiest congratulations, his best wishes for her future happiness and tucked in neatly at the end, an expression of his love. Then, mingling philosophy with sentiment, the president assured Miss Kohlsaat that "there are no lovers like wedded lovers."

DOMINOES OUST EUCHRE DECKS

MARYVILLE, Mo., July 27.—When eighty-seven of the leading society women of Maryville sat down yesterday afternoon to what they supposed was to be a euchre party at a social event given by Mrs. T. L. Wadley and Mrs. J. C. Allender in honor of Mrs. Grace Austin of Chicago, they found dominoes instead of euchre decks awaiting them. The hostess informed the guests at each table that on the request of Rev. Grant A. Robbins, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church in this city, dominoes had been substituted for the cards.

PLAYS INDIAN; IS KILLED

CHIPPEWA FALLS, Wis., July 27.—While playing Indian, Edward Carpenter, 12 years old, killed his sister, 10 years old, with a shot gun, the charge entering her head. The boy thought the weapon was unloaded. The parents were absent at the time.

JONES WILL SUE FOR UMPIRING

Pitcher Ross Jones of the La Crosse league baseball team has started suit against the Wisconsin state league for money in payment for his services as umpire the last four seasons. During this time he has often been called upon to act as umpire in the absence of the regular official and is entitled to $2.50 per game.

It seems that some time ago Jones was fined $5 by President Moll for a dispute with the umpire at Freeport and Jones has taken this method to get retaliation. He has consulted local attorneys on the matter and has been assured of his legal rights to the back pay.

The Longest Continuous Double Track Railway in the World

under one management is the Grand Trunk Railway System from Chicago to Montreal and to Niagara Falls. The Grand Trunk-Lehigh Valley double track route via Niagara Falls reaches from Chicago to New York. Descriptive literature, time-tables, etc., will be mailed free on application to Geo. W. Vaux, A. G. P. & T. A., Grand Trunk Railway System, 135 Adams St., Chicago, Ill.

WAR ON STANDS CONTINUED.

FORT DODGE, Ia., July 27.—Councilman J. W. Kime, state tuberculosis lecturer before physicians and practicing physicians, in this city, says he was not out for child's play when he caused the arrest of Greek and Jewish fruit men because they sold fruit on the sidewalks in front of their places of business. He has caused their arrest again, and says he will have them arrested every day until they get tired of the game.

WILL NOT GO WITH ROOSEVELT.

DEADWOOD, S. D., July 27.—United States Marshal Seth Bullock of Deadwood authorized an absolute denial of the story sent from Colorado Springs saying that he had accepted an invitation to join President Roosevelt on his African trip. Capt. Bullock declared that he had not received such an invitation and that he would be unable to go had he been invited.
